Questions in House

Ensigns Flutter All Over Place

OTTAWA (CP) — An abundance of Red Ensigns fluttering on Parliament Hill for Dominion Day celebrations prompted a rash of questions in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Why so many, more than other years? asked Guy Marcoux (SC—Quebec-Montmorency).
Because, said Works Minister Deschatelets, a committee last fall suggested more flags be flown on July 1 and that is why there are 66 Red Ensigns around the parliamentary lawn rather than 22.

In answer to more questions he said the committee comprises representatives of the chief protocol officer for the external affairs department, public works, the CBC, RCMP, citizenship and immigration department and the defence department.

Nobody from the Royal Canadian Legion, Winnipeg branch? asked Creditiste leader Real Caouette.
Mr. Deschatelets said he'd check.

Former Minister Says:

Leave New Flag Up to All People

OTTAWA (CP)—A former Conservative cabinet minister said Tuesday the selection of a new national flag should be a matter for all Canadians.

Quebec

Defended

Alvin Hamilton (PC—Qu'Appelle) said the view of the ordinary Canadian on the Liberal government's maple leaf banner ought to carry as much weight as that of the flag experts, lawyers, members of Parliament and intellectuals.

This was one reason why the government should accept Opposition leader Diefenbaker's amendment to the flag resolution and hold a national plebiscite, the former agriculture minister said.

ISSUES FOR PEOPLE

Mr. Hamilton said he personally supported the concept of Parliament making decisions, but there were some emotional and moral issues that should be decided by all the people.

One of these had been the conscription issue of 1942, which went to a plebiscite. Canada might still be torn by disension had the then-Liberal government not given the minority a chance to express itself.

WANT TO BE HEARD

There was a large number of Canadians—though still a minority—who felt they were being trampled upon. They wanted the opportunity to be heard through a national vote on the flag.

These people and organizations—supporters of the Red Ensign—had pledged to support the majority opinion. Surely this was the way to preserve unity.

Pearson Urges National Unity

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday that as Canada enters its 38th year of Confederation there is cause for concern at "the noisy activities of those few who would divide us."

In a Dominion Day message, Mr. Pearson said it would be irresponsible for Canadians to close their eyes to the existence of separatist designs, even though they are held by only a few.

Recognizing the existence of separatist ambitions would be the first step towards mobilizing the most effective counterforce: "Informed nationalism, persuaded by facts and reason that even on material grounds alone the consequences of any separation in Canada made it unthinkable."

"I believe we have barely tapped the qualities we need to ignite a national purpose which will carry us toward our cen-

Two Flights, Abrupt End

Fatal U.S. Air Force collision near Bermuda Monday looked like this, as flame and smoke rise just after crash. Planes were on test rescue mission being filmed for training purposes.—(AP)

Navy Planes Collide Five Fliers Killed

AVALON, Calif. (UPI) — Two twin-engine U.S. Navy anti-submarine planes collided in flight despite near perfect weather, and the navy said there were apparently no survivors among the five men aboard.

The navy said only one body was recovered by early afternoon. One of the 2F planes carried three men the second, two—half of the normal complement, according to spokesmen at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station from which both aircraft took off almost simultaneously Tuesday.

The navy said wreckage of one plane was found, but there was no trace of a second. Police- man Don Anderson, a witness aboard a fishing boat, said one plane appeared to disintegrate after what he called a "head-on" collision observed by scores of fishermen and pleasure boat occupants.

Anderson, aboard the 85-foot fishing vessel Freedom I with more than 60 other persons, told investigators:

EXPLODED ON WATER

"I saw two twin-engine planes collide in mid-air and flat-spin into the water. They appeared to explode about when they hit the water."

He estimated the planes were about 1,000 feet in altitude at the time of collision.

Sgt. Lyndell Riggers, aboard a sheriff's helicopter about 10 to 15 minutes from the scene when the accident occurred, said he was attracted by smoke. By the time he arrived he could see only a little wreckage in the water, including a partially opened life raft.

Next Paper On Friday

There will be no edition of The Daily Colonist on Thursday because the staff will be on holiday Wednesday in observance of Dominion Day. Next edition of the paper will be on Friday.

FIERY BLAST SINKS OIL RIG

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP)—A $6,000,000 floating oil rig collapsed and sank after a terrifying explosion and fire 72 miles off the Louisiana coast Tuesday, leaving 20 men feared dead.

Two bodies from the pre-dawn blast were recovered and an intensive air-sea search found no signs of 18 others who were missing.

25 SURVIVE

Another 25 persons, including two men in a boat alongside the barge, survived and were airlifted to this coastal fishing town. Many were burned.

The skeleton of the barge and rig settled to the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico in a depth of 180 feet.

Jack Bates of Reading and Bates Offshore Drilling Company, said the 18 missing men "are probably still aboard the Baker" at the bottom of the sea. Divers will examine the wreckage.

The C. P. Baker, a twin-hull barge, had 43 persons aboard when the explosion occurred.

FIRE EVERYWHERE

"There was fire everywhere," said L. C. Franks, a survivor. "If hell is any worse, I don't want to go there."

Half the men were caught asleep when the rush of gas belled from beneath the sea and burst into flame, triggered by a spark.

Survivors said the drill hit a shallow high pressure pocket of gas at the 684-foot level. The gas began seeping up into the rig, they said.

"The floor began to buckle and we knew it was time to get off," one survivor said.

TRAPPED BY FLAMES

Most were trapped momentarily by flames which covered the rig and surrounding waters. Winds mercifully whipped the flames away from one side of the rig for a moment and some crew members leaped into the water.

President's Mother To Quit Cuba?

MEXICO CITY (Reuters) — The newspaper Ultima Noticias reports that the Cuban exile student directorate had said Margot Torrado de Dorticos, mother of Cuba's President Osvaldo Dorticos, was considering defecting because the Fidel Castro regime was persecuting the Roman Catholic Church.

Castro's sister, Juanita Castro Ruz, is already in Mexico seeking political asylum after breaking with Fidel.

City Student

BEAVER LAKE CLAIMS LIFE

By TED GASKELL

A 17-year-old city student drowned in Beaver Lake yesterday afternoon while his girl friend looked on helplessly from the bank.

The victim, Lynn Moen Wilkins, of 1362 Pandora, a student at Victoria High School, was swimming at the west side of the lake with his friend Paul Franklin, 18, of 2639 Mount Stephen. The accident occurred just before 4 p.m.

TWO GIRLS WATCH

Watching the two swim toward the little island were Lynn's girl friend Darlene Lawrence, of 2749 Shelbourne, a Lansdowne Junior High School student, and Anita Barnes, 1510 Holly.

Four navy skindivers, CPO George Ackerman, PO Garmeth Shaw, AB Lawrence Johnston, and AB David Arthurs, recovered the body an hour and a half later, about 100 feet from shore.

NOT STRONG SWIMMER

"He wasn't a very strong swimmer. He's never been out that far before," said the boy's friend.

"I was about 20 feet ahead of him when he called out. I turned to help him, but he went down."

UNABLE TO HELP

Paul, who described himself as only a fair swimmer, said he wasn't able to help. The bottom was waxy and mud was stirred up as he went down.

Darlene, who watched the swimmers, saw that Lynn was in trouble.

JUST WENT DOWN

"Lynn called out for help and Paul turned. He shouted to Lynn to lie on his back but he didn't. He just went down. Paul was too tired to help," she said.

"Lynn had never swum out that far before," Darlene said. They had been going steady for five months but had known each other longer than that and had been to Beaver Lake several times.

When they did go to the lake it was Lynn who swam while Darlene, a non-swimmer, watched him from the shore.

The point from which the two youths were swimming was only a few hundred yards from the main beach and concession, but by trail it is at least half a mile.

DIVING FRUITLESS

Police went to the spot immediately to search, but efforts to dive were fruitless as the water muddied quickly.

Navy skindivers came by raft from the main beach and circled the area underwater for half an hour before they recovered the body.

Police and fire officials called for the navy but it was some time before the crew was able to reach the point.

SECOND IN WEEK

This is the second tragic accident involving high school students in a week.

Friday, Belmont High School student Terry Arthur, 1030 Dunford, was killed in a logging accident on the first day of his summer job, when he was hit by a log.

BORN HERE

Lynn Wilkins was born in Victoria, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wilkins. He received his primary education at Mill Bay and moved here with his family in 1959. He attended Central Junior High and Victoria High schools. He had just passed his Grade 11 exams.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Lee, 16, and Lawrence, 14, and his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Wilkins.

Algerian Chief Disappears

ALGIERS (AP) — Rabah Bitat, one of the historical chiefs of the Algerian revolution now a political opponent of President Ahmed Ben Bella, has disappeared from his home, his wife told reporters Tuesday.

Bitat, a Kabylie, has disagreed with Ben Bella's installation of socialism since independence in 1962.

Boys watch divers search for body.

'We Were Wearing Seat Belts'

Crash Grounds Young Flying Bug

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — A 15-year-old "bug for flying" and his trusting 13-year-old companion were grounded Tuesday after the crash-landing of a stolen airplane ended their spree of free rides.

The boys, from North Adams, Mass., about 40 miles east of Schenectady, crash-landed the single-engine plane in a parking lot after fog and radio trouble spoiled their plans for a quiet, unreported flight.

Police said the pilot, John Nault, said he had taken the Cessna-150 because: "I'm a bug for flying."

He admitted, police reported, he had flown the plane before, flying about 50 or 60 miles, then returning it to North Adams Airport. He said he had had two hours of flying instructions.

The 13-year-old, whose name was not disclosed, told police he had flown with John before and wasn't frightened because "John's a good driver" and "we were wearing seat belts."

He wasn't frightened even though:

The two became lost in fog; narrowly missed crashing into the steeple of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church in Schenectady; couldn't raise any answer on the aircraft's radio; the first time they tried to land in the parking lot, John overshot it and the balance wheel struck a wire fence as he was putting up for another try.

When he realized he was lost, police said, the pilot kept calling "Mayday, Mayday" into the craft's radio. The listeners could not make contact with the plane.

Over Schenectady, police said, the boys noticed they were low on fuel. They decided to land in the parking lot because John saw a General Electric Company sign and "felt at home"—a relative works for the company in Pittsfield, Mass.

"The boy's a pretty good pilot," said an official of the youth aid bureau.

The badly damaged plane, valued at $7,000, is owned by the Williamstown Flying Club.

Let All Decide

John R. Matheson (L—Leeds) said Canada would celebrate its 37th birthday without an official flag.

The country had stumbled into use of the Red Ensign, the sea flag of Britain's merchant navy. This should not be allowed to continue.

H. W. Herridge (NDP—Kootenay, West) said his heritage included Norman, English and North American Indian and this allowed him to deal with the flag issue with complete objectivity. He felt there should be a plebiscite.

Prime Minister Pearson, had committed a "series of unforunate blunders" in dealing with the flag and if no plebiscite was held, another blunder would be added.

Mr. Herridge said the prime minister's initial announcement of his flag intentions to a group of foreign-language newspaper editors was a blunder that did not generate the support expected. It was another blunder to make the flag issue a question of confidence in the government; in giving the flag legislation precedence over other bills, and issuing a stamp with a likeness of the flag design.

OPPOSES VOTE

Grant Deachman (L—Vancouver Quadra) opposed a plebiscite. "We were sent here to participate in the political leadership of Canada," and members would be shirking their responsibility if they referred the matter back to the people. He said the situation in Western Canada, "3,000 miles from the bicultural front," was far different from the East. A decision in favor of the Red Ensign would mean asking 5,000,000 French-speaking Canadians to accept a flag that Wolfe flew on his ship.

BEAST LET LOOSE

A plebiscite would "be a beast let loose on the land to tear at the guts of national unity."

Nicolas Mandziuk (PC—Marquette) said there were some Canadians who would prefer rabbits or any other objects on the flag just to get rid of the Union Jack.

There were others who felt just as strongly for retention of the Union Jack. Therefore the government should order a plebiscite to search out the wishes of the country.

Lake Body Given More Power

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and the United States appear to be heading in the direction of giving the International Joint Commission greater authority to regulate the water levels of the Great Lakes, Resources Minister Laing said in the Commons Tuesday.

He said the government has asked Ontario and Quebec to agree to extending the power of the commission to investigate the low-water problem plaguing the lakes. Ontario has replied in support of such a move, but an answer has not yet been received from Quebec.

Funeral or Reverential?

No Screams Greet Beatles On Arrival in Victoria

By IAN'ARROL

Message to the Beatles: When you find life in the rest of the world too hectic and you want a rest, come to Victoria.

Maybe it's because you weren't leaving off the Yea, Yea, Yea that your reception, as the newest residents of the Royal London Wax Museum yesterday, was almost funeral, or maybe "reverential."

But quiet it was.

Four effigies were scheduled to arrive at the museum at about 1:15 p.m.

While awaiting your arrival, I checked with the bus drivers across the way who were first off the ferry when it docked at Swartz Bay.

"From Vancouver to Tsawwassen there were a few near-accidents as motorists were caught by surprise," reported one.

head, Ringo. I think it was you, Ringo. Anyway it was the one of you with the sour look on his face.

The fellow who was trying to fix you grabbed your head and lifted it right off.

"Ohh!" cried a fair young maid, and then relaxed to watch interestedly as a screw was applied to some vital part in your side.

Appropriate to the quiet dignity in which you were received in Victoria, you are to be placed on a stand across the way from Queen Victoria and Benjamin Disraeli.

"How about after they left the mainland?"

"There was a lot of picture-taking on the boat. It was pretty quiet though," reported another.

"Weren't the Beatles put in some sort of temporary storage for the trip across?" I asked.

"Oh no, they just sat there in their open convertibles."

"No guard rails?"

"Oh, no."

"How many policemen?"

"One."

Back at the Royal London Wax Museum, there was one policeman. A sergeant, though.

And about 60 girls, little boys and mothers.

Then you arrived, with one motorcycle policeman.

"Any excitement on the way from Swartz Bay?" I asked him.

"Oh, no," he replied.

"Who's the Beatle sitting closest to us?" I asked a nearby mother.

"Ringo's the only one I know. He's the one with the sour look on his face," she replied.

"Shhhhh," said the daughter and looked down at the sidewalk in SHAME.

The people at the museum were having trouble with your

Quebec Study Defended

Mr. Diefenbaker charged during the weekend that the government was giving official recognition to a few separatists who did not deserve it and carrying out an "unconstitutional" study of Quebec secession.

The Conservative leader missed Tuesday's Commons sitting because of a heavy cold, but former Labor minister Michael Starr commented that Mr. Pearson was again forced to clarify one of his "careless statements."

Spokesmen for the three smaller parties endorsed the new study, but disagreed on what it should lead to.

NDP Leader Douglas said Canada is in great danger of becoming "regionalized." A strong central government was needed to apply national economic planning.

"RAH!"

Creditist Leader Real Crouette and Guy Marcoux (SC—Quebec-Montmorency) said it was rash for the government to predict already that Quebec independence would prove unfeasible economically.

Your Good Health

Milk Not Just for Calves, Kids Older People Require It Too

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it O.K. for oldsters to drink milk, a pint a day at least? Some doctors say yes and others say it is only good for calves and kids.

If one doesn't drink it, should calcium tablets be taken?—A.M.H.

Dear Dr. Molner: After one has gone through the change of life, is a hysterectomy advisable?—MRS. H. S.

You mean just arbitrarily have a hysterectomy? No, certainly not. But if some condition exists making it necessary, there is no reason why you shouldn't have it done.

Most doctors don't object to milk for oldsters, adults, babies or anyone else, including calves and kids. When, occasionally, one attacks milk, it is unusual enough to cause quite a furor so it sometimes sounds as though there must be substantial opposition.

THEY SHOULD

Frankly, there isn't. My opinion—shared, I believe, by the overwhelming majority of other physicians—is this:

Yes, it is "O.K." for oldsters to drink milk. I'd go farther and say that they SHOULD drink milk.

Few if any foods are as complete a representation of necessary elements, with emphasis on calcium, Vitamin D and protein.

Calcium is highly important. Its absence can mean soft, weak bones, rickets and poor teeth. Wounds and bruises may not heal efficiently. Muscular cramps can also result.

Vitamin D, in turn, is necessary for effective utilization of calcium.

BUILDS BONES

Milk is good for building and rebuilding strong bodies. Until the end of our lives, our bodies are constantly being rebuilt, cell by cell.

If a weight problem is involved, that's easily solved: drink skim milk which contains all the useful elements except that the fat has been removed.

I consider a pint a day as excellent, or half that (one glass a day) as generally sufficient.

If you drink milk, you need not worry about calcium tablets. If you don't the tablets are a good idea.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is meant by "nerve root pain"? Is there any treatment?—S.W.

Nerve root pain is the result of irritation or pressure on the nerve at its root, that is, the point at which the nerve emerges from the spinal cord between the vertebrae.

The pain, however, would not necessarily be felt at the point of pressure. Rather it could be (and often is) felt elsewhere in the area served by that nerve.

Causes include a ruptured or damaged disc in the spine; arthritis; extreme curvature of the spine.

Treatment, therefore, depends on finding the cause.

Needless Alarm

Expert Denies Smoking Cause Of Lung Cancer

For Trio

Search Force Swelled

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Another 300 sailors under White House orders joined the hunt for three missing civil rights workers Tuesday as the search spread into a second Mississippi county.

As the ranks of sailors swelled to 400, the White House in Washington said President Johnson was determined to employ whatever federal manpower might be needed.

PERSONAL APPEAL

Mrs. Michael Schwerner of New York, 22-year-old wife of one of the missing men, made a personal appeal to the president Monday for 5,000 men to help search. She said the president told her he could not send that many.

Missing with Schwerner, 24, are Andrew Goodman, 20, an American white New Yorker, and James Chaney, 22, a Negro from nearby Meridian. They vanished here June 21 after posting a $20 bond for speeding in a car.

BODY FOUND

A rumor swept through the search ranks Tuesday morning that a mutilated body found near Oakland—a hundred miles to the northwest—was that of one of the missing trio.

Both the state highway patrol and the FBI discounted the report, but fingerprinted the body to determine identity. The white man, apparently the victim of a hij-and-run accident, appeared to be about 25 years of age and of medium build.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A St. Louis surgeon who specializes in treating lung cancer testified Monday: "I do not believe that lung cancer is caused by cigarette smoking, and I do not believe smoking is responsible for any shortening of life."

The surgeon, Dr. Thomas H. Burford, said "so long as the cause of cancer is unknown it would seem only reasonable that to raise an alarm about cigarette smoking is unwarranted."

WORSE DISEASE

"We are producing a disease worse than cancer—cancerphobia," Burford said in testimony before the House of Representatives' commerce committee.

The committee is considering 70 bills proposing various ways for the federal government to curtail cigarette smoking.

The Federal Trade Commission, basing its decision on the report, issued a rule last week requiring cigarette labels and advertising next year to warn customers that smoking is a dangerous health hazard.

Testimony by Burford and two other witnesses, a statistician and a heart specialist, disputed the health service report.

The statistician, Alan S. Donahoe, said the report was based on haphazard statistical methods.

INCONSISTENT

Donahoe, executive vice-president and assistant publisher of the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch and News Leader, testified that the report's statistical data "are internally inconsistent, lead to unreasonable implications, and are contradictory not only with other research of a competent nature, but also with other facts known to be true."

The heart specialist, Dr. Henry I. Russek, formerly of the U.S. Public Health Service, said research shows that emotional stress from a person's occupation is related to coronary heart disease.

Crippled Jet Kills Children

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP) — A silent and pilotless jet fighter slashed into a sleeping neighborhood early Tuesday, brushing half-a-dozen homes and a dozen cars before exploding into a house at the end of the street, killing two children.

Todd Gifford, 10, and his sister, Pamela, 8, died when they were trapped in their one-story ranch house and burned to death.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Gifford, escaped practically unhurt.

The pilot of the Massachusetts Air National Guard F-86, Capt. D. F. Sullivan of Boston, ejected himself from the crippled jet and parachuted safely into the nearby Merrimack River.

No Increase For Tolls On Seaway

OTTAWA (UPI) — The governments of Canada and the United States have put off for another two years the possibility of increasing the tolls of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Privy council president George McInraith announced in the Commons Tuesday that "no change in tolls will be proposed at the present time."

McInraith said the date for the seaway authorities to report on tolls and whether they should be changed has been put off from today to July 1, 1966—in effect leaving the tolls as they are for two years.

Former Conservative transport minister Leon Balcer said the announcement was a "realistic approach."

Laotian Prince

Pro-Red Leader Willing to Confer

VIENTIANE (AP) — Soviet and Polish diplomats visited pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong Tuesday and said on their return here he was willing to meet outside Laos with neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Returning from Souphanouvong's headquarters at Khang Khay in north-central Laos, they said he had proposed that the meeting to discuss the Laotian crisis be held in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, or Jakarta, Indonesia. He previously had refused to meet outside Laos.

ONE REJECTED

Souvanna has proposed New Delhi, Rangoon or Zurich. He has rejected suggestions for a meeting in Phnom Penh because of his border dispute with Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state.

While the two feuding Lao-ians may fall once more into a dispute over a peace conference site, Vassily Tchivelev, Soviet charge d'affaires, appeared optimistic.

He told reporters on his return from Khang Khay the fact that Souphanouvong had agreed in principle to meet with Souvanna outside Laos was an encouraging sign.

Tchivelev and Jerzy Dudzinski, Polish member of the International Control Commission for Laos, were reported to have made the trip to persuade Souphanouvong to abandon his hard-line Peking stand.

'No Race Problems' Here

Indians Segregated Says Racist

GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP) — Canada has no race problem because there are "no niggers" and Indians are segregated on government reserves, William Simmons of Jackson, Miss., an administrator of the Citizen's Councils of America, said Monday.

Addressing 77 high school students at a week-long conference on race problems sponsored by the United Nations Association of Canada, Mr. Simmons said Canadians cannot be expected to understand a situation with which they have so little contact.

"I believe I am the first citizen's council representative to speak in Canada, which indicates that our views are not known to you," he told the audience at this conference site near Orillia.

NO PROBLEM

"And I see that in Canada you have no race problems because you have no niggers and your Indians are segregated on government reservations," he added.

He said propaganda has disturbed and distorted the Negro's actual feelings and experience in the South.

Mr. Simmons, who edits a newspaper of the Citizen's Councils, said many people in the South would be astonished to be told they had race problems.

WE SHOW TACT

"We have no such upheavals as have racked England," he said. We get a better education in southern separate schools than they do in northern integrated ones, and we show a remarkable tact and courtesy to our Negro neighbors. Government laws could never achieve that."

Robert Gore of the Congress of Racial Equality was originally scheduled to rebut Mr. Simmons' argument but cancelled his engagement because of the disappearance of three civil rights workers in Mississippi.

Cyprus Crisis Eased After Martin Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Martin said Tuesday in the Commons he hopes as a result of current discussions that Turkey won't carry out its ultimatum to invade Cyprus.

Though Mr. Martin's reply to a question by Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) was mild, informed sources said outside the Commons that Canada has used strong language with both Greece and Turkey concerning the possibility of conflict between the two countries.

Mr. Martin talked with Premier Inonu of Turkey in New York last Wednesday and with Premier Papandreu of Greece in Washington Thursday.

Informed sources said they believe Mr. Martin's strong words hit home and there is

Politicking Begins

UN Troops Leave, Congo Leaders Quit

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The Congo lost its United Nations shield and its government Tuesday on the fourth anniversary of independence from Belgium—four years stained by bloodshed and plagued by rebellion.

President Joseph Kasavubu announced the resignation of Premier Cyrille Adoula and his government three hours after the last 143 UN soldiers, including Canadians, flew from The Congo.

The four-year UN operation cost the world $455,000,000. As bickering political leaders groped for national reconciliation, there was wide speculation that Moise Tshombe, political foe of Adoula, may be named the next premier. It was the departing UN military force that defeated Tshombe's secessionist government in Katanga province in 1963.

Some diplomats, however, expected Kasavubu to ask Adoula to head a provisional government until new elections are held.

Despite a spreading leftist revolt in the eastern Congo, Adoula's government had not asked the UN force to remain.

TANKS STILL REMAIN

In New York, UN Secretary-General U Thant said the UN still had tanks in The Congo—"by far the largest of all UN technical assistance operations."

He said political reconciliation and the retraining of The Congo's relatively weak army are two major conditions for maintaining peace in the former Belgian Congo, but the task of maintaining law and order now is up to the Congolese.

NO FAREWELLS

Not a single Congolese official went to the airport to pay his respects to the departing 58 Canadian and 85 Nigerian UN soldiers, the rear guard of a force that once numbered 20,000 men.

It was through their efforts that Adoula's government was able to establish its authority over Katanga, the richest province in The Congo and a pillar of the country's economy.

Canada's Birthday

TODAY, at a time when many of those in authority over us appear to be dedicated to the belief that the nation can survive only if its old associations and values are replaced by the untried new, Canada celebrates her 97th birthday as a sovereign state.

To those who now accept cynicism as a virtue this day will go unmarked. To others—countless numbers of Canadians who recognize their good fortune to be part of this great country—it will be a day of pride and thanksgiving.

But to all, whether they be critics or not, it should be a day to remember that less than 100 years ago the country which is Canada today was but a vast land of divided people and separate colonial territories.

At that time the fathers of Confederation met together to debate and examine the great issue of the future destiny of the British colonies in North America. Here is how one man—the Hon. George Brown—addressed the meeting on the prospects of creating a nation:

"One hundred years have passed away since these provinces became by conquest part of the British Empire. I speak in no boastful spirit—I desire not for a moment to excite a painful thought—what was then the fortune of war of the brave French nation, might have been ours on that well-fought field.

"I recall those olden days merely to mark the fact that here sit today the descendants of the victors and the vanquished in the fight of 1759, with all the differences of language, religion, civil law, and social habit, nearly as distinctly marked as they were a century ago. Here we sit today seeking amicably to find a remedy for constitutional evils and injustices complained of—by the vanquished? No, sir—but complained of by the conquerors!

"Here sit the representatives of the British population claiming justice—only justice; and here sit the representatives of the French population, discussing in the French tongue whether we shall have it.

"One hundred years have passed away since the conquest of Quebec, but here sit the children of the victor and the vanquished, all avowing hearty attachment to the British Crown—all earnestly deliberating how we shall best extend the blessings of British institutions—how a great people may be established on this continent in close and hearty connection with Great Britain.

"Where, sir, in the page of history, shall we find a parallel to this?

"... and well, Mr. Speaker, may the work we have unitedly proposed rouse the ambition and energy of every true man in British America. Look, sir, at the map of the continent of America, and mark the island (Newfoundland) commanding the mouth of the noble river that almost cuts our continent in twain. Well, sir, that island is equal in extent to the kingdom of Portugal.

"Cross the straits to the mainland, and you touch the hospitable shores of Nova Scotia, a country as large as the kingdom of Greece. Then mark the sister province of New Brunswick—equal in extent to Denmark and Switzerland combined. Pass up the river St. Lawrence to Lower Canada—a country as large as France. Pass on to Upper Canada—20,000 square miles larger than Great Britain and Ireland put together. Cross over the continent to British Columbia, the land of golden promise—equal in extent to the Austrian Empire. I speak now of the vast Indian Territories (the Prairie provinces) that lie between—greater in extent than the whole soil of Russia...

"Well, sir, the bold scheme in your hands is nothing less than to gather all these countries into one—to organize them under one government, with the protection of the British flag, and in heartiest sympathy and affection with our fellow subjects in the land which gave us birth.

"Our scheme is to establish a government that will seek to turn the tide of European immigration into this northern half of the American continent—that will strive to develop its great natural resources—and that will endeavor to maintain liberty and justice, and Christianity throughout the land."

How well George Brown's words foretold the future of Canada can be seen by every Canadian today. If they are to still ring as true in the years ahead depends on whether Canada yet possesses such men of vision, of faith, and of integrity to lead it.

Flown With Pride

THE MORE cities become alike the less attraction they can have for strangers in search of the unusual. And because of the universality of today's architectural fashions, in a period of remarkable growth and development, they tend to be more and more akin in appearance.

Victoria no less than any other lively city is acquiring in considerable numbers new buildings that, pleasing to the eye as they may be, do not distinguish it a whit from the hometowns of many of its tourists nor the places they have passed through in their travels.

This is not to say that Victoria is without distinction; far from it. But the conformity in new construction (not to mention increasing conformity in ways of living) gives emphasis to the need for preserving and nurturing the pleasing differences that remain and creating new ones.

In several ways Victoria is doing a good job in this respect. With the natural advantages of a unique setting, it is adding works of urban beautification that set it apart from other communities at least until they are widely copied—as the flower baskets have been, and as the co-ordinated and harmonious painting of whole blocks of downtown buildings undoubtedly will be if this is carried through to obvious success.

It may be appropriate particularly on this day though to suggest an improvement in a small detail of the general scene.

One of the greatest differences for the large number of tourists who come from the United States is that they are in a foreign land. Nothing can be calculated more to remind them of that than the sight of the Canadian flag.

It is gratifying that almost a dozen Red Ensigns can be seen from in front of the legislative buildings. But nevertheless there is room for betterment in the display throughout the city, and not alone in regard to numbers. Some of those now flying are badly faded or dirty. It would fit the character of the capital of British Columbia not only if more were to be seen, but if they were uniformly bright and clean and patently flown with pride.

"I read her Lord Shawcross' article about seaside landladies breaking away from aspidistras and lace curtains and getting 'with it' and she sentenced me to three days on bread and water for mutiny."

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax

By TOM TAYLOR

THE administrator of the Canadian Players' Foundation, a Canada Council recipient of artistic honor, says this country is still a "cultural disaster area." I should hope not quite that. Nor that ten years ago we were a "practically cultureless nation."

Culture is a many-sided quality.

Mr. Tom Hendry, the young new leader of this national theatrical group was of course speaking in terms of "theatre," and the progress that Canada is making in what we are pleased to call the "cultural" advances.

For want of another term culture has come to suggest to many people only the arts—music, painting, sculpture, and allied pursuits. These are not all the human story, however.

They are needful for the expansion of aesthetic values as against the utilitarian aspects of life, but they are but part of the whole.

One could be well-informed and a practitioner in one or more of these desirable fields, for instance, but otherwise perhaps—a boor. Culture is one thing, as Emerson said, and another. And true culture embraces the human spirit.

It is pleasing of course that Canadian "theatre" is being noted and acclaimed abroad as evidence of its upsurge and relevant advancement, but not essential as proof of the cultural state of the nation. A country could be quietly cultured without exporting its theatrical virtues.

As to that the myriad activity on the Victoria scene alone, the preoccupation of many local artists in the aforementioned realms of aesthetic appreciation, denies any assumption that Canadian society is uncultured.

Carlyle said that the great law of culture is to "let each become all that he was created for." This surely implies that man must answer and develop the innate qualities of his nature, and these are not all to be found simply by pursuing the arts as such.

Grace is an important factor in true human culture, the delicacy that responds to others with feeling and understanding; the association that discloses kindness and goodwill.

A person who is courteous, of patient temper and wide tolerance, cannot be uncultured even if he lacks intimate knowledge of the "cultural" arts.

Oscar Wilde said for example that "those who find beautiful meaning in beautiful things are the cultivated." Thus an individual might linger in Beacon Hill Park, elevated in spirit because of the beauty and scene before him and yet be unversed in what are deemed to be the recognized attributes of culture.

A man is the richer if as Henry Van Dyke suggests he has the habit of "being pleased with the best and knowing why, and the world of art—music, drama, literature, and the like—may provide fulfillment of this human aspiration.

But real culture, nevertheless, is implicit in a man's worth as a human being. And the articulate person can be rich in his own native reaction to the finer aspects of human character.

Culture is the intellectual side of civilization, but it may be allied to man in all he does.

DON'T let 'em kid you about there being any diplomatic stuffing in Paul Martin's shirt. It only sometimes looks that way, at casual glance, simply because he's secretary of state for external affairs.

The Lakehead's politician-pundit, Douglas Finser, the M.P. star of platform, radio, TV and printed page, started the rumor about Oom Paul putting on diplomatic airs.

It was his nifty (if not so) crack about the "old pro" retreating into statesmanship that did the trick.

Then Liberal MP Grant Deachman of Vancouver Quadra seemed to confirm it with his even neater nifty that old warrior Paul Martin who used to gloriously shell his enemies with his thundering 16-inch oratorical guns was now "softly stopping them to death with marshmallows."

The Old Smoothie may be long on fitting dignity since he took over at stuffy External Affairs. But putting on the diplomatic ritz? Never. Not even with the teacup-and-saucer boys who man the foreign desks in his high and mighty department. In fact, he may be teaching them a thing or two in How-To

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

The British North America Act came into force to establish the Dominion of Canada on this day in 1867. Under the act, the independent provinces of Canada East and Canada West—which became Quebec and Ontario—and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were united. Sir John A. Macdonald became first prime minister and remained in office until November, 1873. While the act is commonly referred to as the "Canadian Constitution," it does not provide for all the machinery of government.

Solving Regional Problems

THE principle of the proposed regional control board is a sound one and is deserving of full support by the ratepayers of the Greater Victoria area.

There are, undoubtedly, problems which are common to the local municipalities, which can and should be solved by co-operative effort—chief among these being the disposal of sewage and garbage. These questions, it is suggested, can be resolved by common effort without derogating from our respective local autonomy, of which I am an ardent supporter.

However, one fears that the proposed board may perish at birth if the size and scope is such that too many members will be occupied with too many problems, to the exclusion of solving any. In this regard it is respectfully submitted that, in the initial stages, the participating areas or municipalities be limited, and the terms of reference be such as to include only the most pressing affairs; i.e., water, sewage, garbage. Only in this way can some true measure of the efficacy of such arrangements be measured; and, if successful, can, with the confidence of the people, proceed with the resolving of other less urgent matters.

Swimming Is Suddenly 'In'

Win - Friends - And - Influence - People.

They still haven't recovered from the shock of discovering that the one sure way of doing business with their boss — of dragging often hard-to-get decisions up and down the Oom Paul swimming.

The external affairs minister is a swimmer. Almost a career swimmer, you might say, in all the 29 years he has graced the capital scene. Winters he swam at the Chateau Laurier.

(Now he's moved into one of those jazzy new high rise apartments with a pool and sauna, the closer to be a more convenient splash).

Summers he strokes around Brantwood Beach, a suburban watering place. Holidays he basks, beachside, at Colchester, down home in Essex County.

For the last three weeks—except for that cold snap—Oom Paul has been taking his no-nonsense dip at Brantwood, trailing along some of the Bright Young Men from External Affairs like the trail of a meteor.

Old Swimmer Martin, a handsome sunburnt brown, steamboats out into the water, while the BYM, in turn, pale as mushrooms, churn along in his wake, striving between gasps and gulps, to discuss the current state of world affairs as they apply to Canada's business abroad.

Along about the fourth or fifth buoy out in the deep water, when Oom Paul, stroking strong as a young salmon, is all relaxed and feeling fine and fit like a latter-day Johnny Weismuller, they get around to asking him for the difficult decisions.

Like when are we going to increase the champagne and caviar allowance for our man in Ruritania, or can we fix the traffic ticket the ambassador for Bogooloojovola picked up for joy-riding on the Mall?

If the water's warm, the day sunny and Oom Paul's feeling expansive, they can almost seats on government commiscount on a hearty "Sure men, anything you say"—provided they aren't swamped in the wash he whips up porpoising up and down the Rideau River.

It's an awful change of pace and scene for the Striped Pants-and-Morning-Coat set from external affairs who have been used to doing their best thinking around a chain-o-topped table in a thickly carpeted conference room, and not over their heads in the stuff they use to lighten their Scotch at those daily cocktail soirees down Diplomatic Row. But they'd better get used to it.

Because swimming suddenly is "in" at both Ottawa and Washington.

In Argentine

By ROBERT COX from Buenos Aires

ARGENTINES are once again talking about the failure of democracy and of the seemingly two choices left the country: a military government or a Communist takeover. And once again, the generals, both on the active list and in retirement, are publishing declarations in the press.

Since Feb. 15, organized labor has been at war with the government. Demanding a $100 minimum wage, credit for depressed industries, measures to curb unemployment and to reduce the cost of living, and a lifting of repressive laws banning the Communist and Peronist parties, the CGT (Confederacion General de Trabajo) which controls 2,500,000 workers, challenged the administration of President Illia.

The government sought to meet some of labor's demands. The president has passed to Congress a minimum wage law, has offered the unions expansive, they can almost seats on government commis-

Food shortages, hitherto unknown, are another vexation. Recently Buenos Aires had no eggs (a shipment from Northern Ireland has been unloaded in the docks), no sugar, and very little beef—Argentina's staple diet. Government attempts to lower prices and build up cattle stocks resulted in two beefless days (Monday and Tuesday) when shops and restaurants are forbidden to sell beef.

In fact, farmers, suppliers and butchers have rebelled. They have refused to send cattle or to buy at government-controlled prices. The result has been a beefless time, a flourishing black market and discontent that the CGT has seized upon.

The Roman Catholic Primate, Cardinal Caggiano, has been moved to circulate a pastoral letter directed at the government and CGT warning that "today's misery, with hunger in some homes and the lack of employment," is producing an extremely dangerous situation. The Cardinal feared that bloodshed could result unless the CGT and the government got together.

The CGT seems to be out to break the government, and only the army can prevent this. The armed forces are, however, reluctant to intervene. The military leaders have warned the government that they represent the "reserve power" and that it is for the government to act.

President Illia, however, apparently believes that time is curative. He has also attempted to divert attention from the labor strife and military rumormongering by enlarging the government's own expropriation measures. The state will formally take over the oil fields exploited by 13 private companies (nine U.S., two Argentine, one Italian and one British-Dutch) a measure which was decreed last November.

Canberra

Rare Beauty

By WILLIAM MITTER from Canberra

THE flooding of Canberra's man-made lake, just completed at a cost of about $2,500,000, has given a cohesion and rare beauty to the city, Australia's national capital.

Canberra was conceived out of inter-state jealousies when, in 1901, the six independent Australian states agreed to federate as a nation. Each state had its own capital, and none was acceptable or indeed feasible as a national capital. After protracted and often heated discussion, a small section of southern New South Wales was set aside as the Australian Capital Territory and in it, along the banks of the meandering Molonglo River—little more than a stream—the foundation stone of Canberra's first building was laid in 1911.

Despite the erection of Parliament House and a few other public buildings, a couple of hotels and a cluster of houses, Canberra remained a dream and a jest until well into the 1930s. Then before much could be done the Second World War further deferred development.

At the end of the war Canberra was still a village of a few thousand dispirited people, many of whom longed for the day when they could return to the comparatively civilized cities of Sydney and Melbourne. Since the mid-1950s and more especially the appointment of the National Capital Development Commission in 1958, all this has changed. By 1960 the population had grown to 50,000. It is now above 60,000 and climbing so fast that the development commission is planning for 100,000 population by 1969 and 250,000 by 1983-84.

These are the bare statistics. They hint at, but cannot convey, the tremendous change that has been wrought already in Canberra or the vista ahead. Fortunately, the whole project is being carefully planned by the central authority which is vested with more power than is given to other town planning authorities.

All land in the Capital Territory is government-owned, and is occupied, whether for farming or city uses, on leasehold. City leases command handsome prices at auction, with the successful bidder then assessed a rental of five per cent of the unimproved capital value.

By this method the government derives a considerable annual income, which, with other service charges, helps maintain the present attractively laid out garden city and finance new development.

Leasehold tenure also ensures orderly zoned development—schools, shopping facilities, recreation buildings—and playing grounds adjacent to new housing districts. Each suburb is being added as an entity, avoiding the ugly ribbon development of Sydney and Melbourne suburbs.

Broadly, the design of Canberra's prize-winning architect, the American Burley Griffin, called for an administration area south of the Molonglo River and a main commercial district to the north, with the river dammed into a lake to divide them. The plan was followed but with many hesitations. It was clearly too bold for our fathers. Nothing was done to implement the lake plan, and with the Molonglo flooding in winter and drying up almost completely in summer, an ugly unkempt area grew up between the city's two axes. But now, after months of dam-building, the construction of two graceful bridges and the terracing of lawns, the lake has been filled, and from the twin peaks Black Mountain and Mount Ainslie, overlooking the city, the breadth of Burley Griffin's concept can be appreciated for the first time. It is not a symmetrical lake, but divides logically into two large irregular-shaped basins and an elongated and winding western reach.

Soon a decision must be taken on the next major development, construction of a permanent Parliament House to accommodate the House of Representatives and the Senate, whose numbers, swelling as Australia's total population grows, are literally bursting the sides of the present temporary structure. Burley Griffin's original plan placed the permanent Parliament building atop Capital Hill. But the long-delayed birth of the lake has opened such new vistas that opinion is now inclining to the erection of the permanent Parliament at the water's edge.

Once the location is settled, the government is expected to launch a world-wide competition seeking the best design. Canberra, justifiably proud of its new university, spacious administration buildings, embassies, towering commercial offices and departmental stores, is determined not to be outdone by Sydney's shell-roofed Opera House, which is now rising slowly on the shores of the famous harbor.

Flag Issue

Debate to End Before Recess

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Tuesday night the government wants to bring the flag issue to a vote before considering a summer recess of Parliament. His statement brought groans from Conservative MPs, who have warned they will put up a long hard fight against the government resolution for a maple leaf flag.

Mr. Pearson said the government would like to pass the flag resolution and six other high-priority measures by the end of July, then call a recess until mid-September.

A series of meetings of House leaders from the various parties had failed to agree on an order of business for July. He wished

Starfighters Airlifted To France

EDMONTON (UPI)—The last of about 175 CF-104 Starfighter jets has been airlifted to France to join Canada's NATO air division.

An air force spokesman said the final fighter arrived in Marville, France, Tuesday aboard a C-130 Hercules transport from Alberta.

The supersonic aircraft have been airlifted to France one at a time in the cavernous cargo hold of the Hercules.

The transports flew a total of more than 1,500,000 miles—or 62 times around the world—since the airlift began in October 1962.

The four Hercules stationed here are to be replaced with a more powerful version of the aircraft later this year.

New Post For Nun At Nelson

A former St. Joseph's Hospital nun is now directing the first university-affiliated program in Canada for a degree in medical records science at Notre Dame University in Nelson.

Sister Mary Catherine directed the school of medical technology at St. Joseph's when it was affiliated with Seattle University, later serving as chief medical records librarian.

The Notre Dame School was established last year in conjunction with Kootenay Lake General Hospital, and has been approved by the Canadian Association of Medical Record Librarians.

to place the government proposals on the record to clear up "inaccurate reports."

The prime minister said the government proposes to hold off debate on its resolutions relating to O Canada and God Save the Queen until the fall.

Besides the flag, these are the measures the government wants to pass before any recess:

1. New fiscal arrangements with the provinces, negotiated at federal-provincial conferences last November and April;

2. Extension of family allowances to $10 monthly to students aged 16 and 17;

3. Third reading of a bill extending Canada's territorial waters and fishing limits;

4. Establishment of a student loan fund to assist needy university students;

5. Spending authority for August and September.

PENSION PLAN OUT

The most noticeable item left out of the priority list was the Canada Pension Plan, now obviously sidetracked until the fall.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) protested that Mr. Pearson's insistence on a flag vote before a recess is "a club held over our heads."

He said the opposition is willing to co-operate with the government on the other legislative items in the prime minister's priority list.

Since then the group has received an increasing number of engagements at parties, clubs, and dances, until now it is usually busy about two nights a week, even though all four members have other jobs, and only play on a part-time basis.

Part of the band's reason for success has been its versatility. Although the boys specialize in rock and roll, they also have a repertoire of conventional numbers, including jazz, waltzes and Latin American music.

They were asked to cut a record by Peter Kelch, of the Air Check Record Co. of Hollywood, Calif., and have since signed a one-year contract with the company.

"The record is called 'The Friendly Martian,'" said band leader Ed Atfield. It is a rock and roll instrumental.

He said the number has received air play in New York. The group will leave Victoria July 3 for a 10-day playing tour through six cities in the Okanagan and the Interior.

"After that we are hoping for more tours and more records. If Friendly Martian sells we may really get somewhere, but if not we'll just have to keep trying."

Mr. Atfield has recently been learning to play the harmonica in order to further increase the band's flexibility, even though they now have collectively more than $6,000 worth of equipment, including a chord organ.

Although all the members of the band can read music, they seldom do.

"We prefer to listen to popular records, then work our own arrangements from them," said Mr. Atfield.

Future hopes of band members is that they become popular enough to be able to quit their jobs and devote their full time to music.

The labor department is on a campaign to get all working Canadians registered under the new social insurance numbering program.

Under it, anyone filing an initial or renewal claim for jobless benefits must furnish the unemployment office with a social insurance number or fill out an application for a number.

Pharaohs on Way

Four Young City Musicians Cut First Rock, Roll Disc

By MIKE GADSBY

A Victoria four-man band has cut its first rock and roll record.

The Pharaohs, led by Ed Atfield, 21, on guitar, and including his brother Ron, 19, bass and vocal, Doug Casey, 21, drums and vocal and Mike Kersey, 25, piano and organ, was organized four years ago.

Since then the group has received an increasing number of engagements at parties, clubs, and dances, until now it is usually busy about two nights a week, even though all four members have other jobs, and only play on a part-time basis.

Part of the band's reason for success has been its versatility. Although the boys specialize in rock and roll, they also have a repertoire of conventional numbers, including jazz, waltzes and Latin American music.

They were asked to cut a record by Peter Kelch, of the Air Check Record Co. of Hollywood, Calif., and have since signed a one-year contract with the company.

"The record is called 'The Friendly Martian,'" said band leader Ed Atfield. It is a rock and roll instrumental.

He said the number has received air play in New York. The group will leave Victoria July 3 for a 10-day playing tour through six cities in the Okanagan and the Interior.

"After that we are hoping for more tours and more records. If Friendly Martian sells we may really get somewhere, but if not we'll just have to keep trying."

Mr. Atfield has recently been learning to play the harmonica in order to further increase the band's flexibility, even though they now have collectively more than $6,000 worth of equipment, including a chord organ.

Although all the members of the band can read music, they seldom do.

"We prefer to listen to popular records, then work our own arrangements from them," said Mr. Atfield.

Future hopes of band members is that they become popular enough to be able to quit their jobs and devote their full time to music.

The labor department is on a campaign to get all working Canadians registered under the new social insurance numbering program.

"It is not yet compulsory, however, for persons who are not yet covered by unemployment insurance."

The new unemployment insurance regulation was approved by the Unemployment Insurance Commission May 28. It appeared in an extra supplement of the Canada Gazette.

Under it, anyone filing an initial or renewal claim for jobless benefits must furnish the unemployment office with a social insurance number or fill out an application for a number.

Canadian Fair Has Legal Home

MONTREAL — Canada's 1967 World Fair has a legal home here—as of last midnight.

Mayor Jean Drapeau and fair commissioner Pierre Dupuy, prime forces behind the centennial highlight, joined in a lease-signing ceremony handing over to the commission the three St. Lawrence River islands on which the giant fair will be held.

Rent for a five-an-a-half-year lease: $1.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Actress Suzanne Pleshette sued Monday for divorce from actor Troy Donahue, charging mental cruelty. She did not ask for alimony. Donahue, 27, and Miss Pleshette, 25, were married last Jan. 4 and separated June 13.

MCBRIDE, B.C. — Dr. A. S. Pirquet of Prince George will practise here for two weeks while the town's only other physician finishes his vacation. Steve Koldas, town councillor, says. The $1,000,000 McBride hospital has been almost idle since Dr. John Smart started his annual vacation three weeks ago.

CLOVERDALE, B.C. — Bail was set at $10,000 Monday when the suspended Surrey district fire chief, Franney Lewis Myttenar, appeared in magistrate's court here charged with three additional arson charges.

LONDON — Kenneth de Courcy, editor, publisher, and financier, sentenced at London's central criminal court last December to seven years imprisonment for fraud, perjury and forgery, has disappeared from his lawyer's office here.

BOYLSTON, Mass. — The 12-year-old pitcher of a Little League baseball team was shot to death for trespassing on an elderly man's property, police say. Richard Beauregard was killed when hit in the neck with a slug from a rifle. Carl Anderson, 67, a retired merchant seaman, was charged with murder.

BOSTON — Richard Cardinal Cushing, 69, on his 25th anniversary as a bishop, said that about eight years ago doctors gave him only eight months to live because of cancer. "Somehow or other I survived," the cardinal said, and added lightly that "the Lord chooses the foolish to confound the wise."

BORGHOLM, Sweden — King Gustaf Adolf of Sweden Tuesday led his eldest grand-daughter, Princess Margaretha, to the altar in the little white stone church at Gaerdsloesa on the Isle of Oeland, off Sweden's Baltic Coast, for her marriage to British businessman John Ambler, 40.

PITTSBURGH — Earl Belle, 82, former boy financier of Pittsburgh who once was accused of pocketing $875,000 in corporate funds, pleaded guilty to fraud Tuesday, was fined $10,000 and sent to prison for 2½ years.

FREDERICTON — Dalton K. Camp, of Toronto, national president of the Progressive Conservative association, says he expects an election before the federal government brings down its next budget.

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI Tuesday celebrated the first anniversary of his coronation with a brilliant pontifical mass in St. Peter's Basilica and a visit to an old people's home.

CZESTOCHOWA — Robert F. Kennedy met for more than an hour in a 600-year-old monastery with Stefan Cardinal Wyszanski, figure in the tense relations between Poland's Communist government and the Roman Catholic Church.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson notified Congress yesterday that he has approved a new agreement to extend the types of atomic information the United States may give to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and its member nations.

TORONTO — Lions International President Aubrey D. Green says his home club in York, Ala., has never asked Negroes to join "because of the social structures and patterns of life" there. He added that there is no color bar in the service club's constitution.

FORT WORTH, Tex. — The Associated Press has asked 17th district court Judge Charles J. Murray to set aside an $800,000 jury verdict in favor of former Maj.-Gen. Edwin A. Walker in a libel suit.

COLOGNE, West Germany — Ingeborg Hahn, 9, has died here, bringing to eight the death toll from a maniac's spear and a flame-thrower attack on a local school three weeks ago.

MONTREAL — Joseph Bonanno, 59-year-old alleged No. 2 man in the U.S. crime hierarchy, lost his bid to be released from jail but his lawyers served notice they haven't stopped fighting yet.

Carpenters' Strike Grows

CRANBROOK (CP) — Two more cont actors were without carpenters Tuesday bringing to seven the number in the Kimberly-Cranbrook area affected by a week-old strike.

The strike by more than 35 carpenters, members of Local 1719 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (CLC), revolves around a wage contract with independent contractors.

Militia Report Ready Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — The recommendations of the committee which has been investigating means of reorganizing the 44,000-member militia are expected to be placed before the Commons defence committee July 14.

Soviet Clocks Here

Russians Have Time We Ring the Bell

A Government Street store But it has found out that if Victorians have the inclination, the Soviets have the time.

Jim Ryan

Jeff Andrews

Jeff Andrews, manager for Spencer's Surplus Annex reported considerable customer interest has been aroused by a dozen Soviet-made alarm clocks which the store took into stock.

He said store officials noticed the clocks in a catalogue from a Montreal importer and ordered them, as much for fun as anything.

The four-jewel clocks appear well-made and about half of them have already been sold at $3.59 each. Instructions are enclosed in Russian and English.

Mr. Andrews said he recalls some USSR-made shotgun shells were offered to Victoria merchants by an importing firm a while ago. But he doesn't recall any stores ordering the shells.

Few Rowdies, Says Veteran Waterfront Man

A veteran of many years at the Inner Harbor floats doesn't agree with suggestions that the floats are afflicted with rowdies and vandals.

H. J. (Bud) Sims, proprietor of the Water Taxi, said last night that incidents described by an irate Seattle yacht owner may have happened, but his description of the over-all situation was exaggerated.

A recent "commotion" among youths at the floats may have prompted Burns Lindsey's complaints, Mr. Sims said—but in that incident the youths had been invited by passengers on a charter boat moored at the floats.

Mr. Sims said in many years of mooring his water taxi at the floats he has had two lifejackets and a flag pilfered.

Few people go on the floats uninvited, he said. And acts of minor pilferage and vandalism which did occur, he said, were not "malicious."

Singer Dies

MOSCOW (AP)—The newspaper Sovetskaya Kultura (Soviet Culture) announced Tuesday the death of Alexander Pirogov, a leading basso of the Bolshoi Theatre. He was 65.

Two Charged in Vandalism

Two men are to be charged with public mischief after vandalism resulted in $1,000 damage at the Butler Bros. logging dump two miles west of Sooke Monday night.

Sooke RCMP arrested the men at noon Tuesday. Vandals started up two diesel trucks and drove them through the doors and walls of a garage.

Vigilante Corps For Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—Malaysia's National Defence Council decided Tuesday to set up a vigilante corps in Malaya and the Borneo states of Sarawak and Sabah to help combat Indonesian saboteurs.

Losses Enormous in Betting Coup

British Bookies Refuse to Pay Off

By COLIN FROST
LONDON (AP)—A brilliantly organized betting coup hit British bookies for at least £1,000,000 Tuesday, but the bookies refused to pay up.

The full extent of the coup will not be known until bets placed by mail reach bookies' offices today.

The drama started in mid-afternoon at a greyhound racing track at Dagenham, an east London industrial area.

The result was to force up the parimutuel pool on the other three dogs.

The race was won by a dog called Buckheat, with Hand-some Lass second.

Throughout the afternoon, other members of the syndicate piled money on the winning combination at betting shops throughout London.

No Mirrors Used

Doubles the Game For Twin Doubles

Two sets of identical twins won their respective doubles' finals yesterday as the fifth annual Pacific Regional Junior tennis championships wound up at the Racquet Club of Victoria.

Vancouver's Watt twins, Maureen and Lindsay, won the girls' under-18 doubles from Victoria's Marg Maysmith and Theodora Booker, 6-2, 6-1.

On the boys' side, the Harris twins, Greg and Geoff, of Edmonton, won the boys' under-16 doubles 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, against Paul and Roger Skillings of Victoria.

Roger Skillings was the only Victorian to win a final. He easily defeated his under-14 singles title with a 6-0, 6-0 win over Ted Kaplan of Vancouver.

In other finals yesterday Bob Moffatt and Susan Eager, both of Vancouver, sked their way to a pair of victories.

Moffatt, the second-seeded Canadian under-18 player, defeated Canada's third seed Bob Eardsley 6-3, 7-9, 6-1, in the under-18 singles. Moffatt and Eardsley combined to win the doubles 6-1, 6-2 from Dave Cox and Vic Rawlings of Vancouver.

Miss Eager took the girls' under-14 singles 6-1, 6-3, against Vancouver's Janice Tindale, and then combined

Only One Base-Runner

Perfect Game Just Eludes Jackson

Larry Jackson didn't miss by much last night as he sought to become the second National League pitcher of the century, and the second in 10 days, to pitch a perfect game.

Chicago Cubs 33-year-old righthander retired the first 18 Cincinnati batters to face him before Pete Rose ruined his hopes with a lead-off single in the seventh inning.

He needed that kind of performance, too. Joey Jay was almost as stingy for the Reds, Louis when pinch-hitter Ty Cline hit his first home run of the season with a man on in the eighth inning.

Over in the American League there was a hint that things were returning to normal again as the New York Yankees got great pitching from two starters who had been having troubles to indicate their slump was only temporary.

Jim Bouton, 21-7 last season but only 5-7 up until last night, and Al Downing, 13-5 in 1963 as a rookie who joined the club just before mid-season but only 2-2 until yesterday, both came through in promising, routing victories over Los Angeles Angels.

Bouton pitched a four-hitter in the opening, 4-0, win, and Downing had only one bad inning in the 3-2 finale.

Downing with his 15th home run in the sixth inning after Joe Adcock had tied the score with his ninth four-baser.

The sweep gained a game and a half for the Yankees as Minnesota Twins, who have been wasting home runs in losing games, found a pitcher who didn't need them in gaining a 3-1 win over the leading Baltimore Orioles.

Rookie Gerry Arrigo, fresh off a one-hitter, lasted seven and two-thirds innings in the 96-degree Baltimore heat, and Al Worthington mopped up impressively for the second time since joining the Twins.

Joe Coral, owner of a chain of betting shops, put his total at half that, Margolia and Ridley said theirs was £400,000. Jack Swift said his was another £300,000.

Normally they would have covered some of these bets by passing on part of them to the tote at the track. But at the critical moment it was impossible to get a call through to the track. All telephone lines were kept busy for half an hour.

The bookmakers called an emergency meeting and declared all bets on the race void.

Some smaller bookies already had paid out.

One said: "I paid £987 to one dear old lady who couldn't have been a member of a betting syndicate."

Shamrocks Open Bid To Share Boxla Lead

Victoria Shamrocks, sporting a four-game winning streak and a confident outlook, begin a run at first place in the Inter-City Lacrosse League tonight.

Shamrocks play New Westminster tonight at Memorial Arena and tomorrow night on the mainland.

THIS IS DIFFERENT
The last time a Shamrock club led the league was in 1962, when a bit of fortunate scheduling put them against Burnaby Norburns and Nanaimo in their first four games.

They won all of them, then had to start playing real lacrosse teams and finished the season 22 points out of the lead.

This time the opposition is tougher, but so are Shamrocks. In fact, figures for the season show the series is between the two roughest defences and the league's two leading goalies.

New Westminster has given up 153 goals in 18 games, five fewer than Shamrocks. Rocks lead the league in penalties with 55 minutes, nine more than New Westminster.

New Westminster's Les Norman leads the goaltenders with a 79.5-percentage in 11 games. Shamrocks' Skip Chapman has a 78.3 mark for 13 games.

Shamrocks go into tonight's game as healthy as they've been all season, with only rookie Bill Munroe absent.

The last time the clubs played a series, New Westminster won 15-3 and 14-7, but coach Don Ashbee points out that Ron Jay was still in a scoring slump at the time and that Chapman played his only two weak games of the season.

Since then, Chapman has regained his top form and Jay has gone on a goal rampage, with 13 in his last four games.

At the moment, Shamrocks are in third place, one point behind Vancouver with a game in hand. Game time is 8 p.m.

Warwick fired his 32nd and 33rd goals to bring his point total to 60, and Gordie Gimple had two goals and two assists to tie New Westminster's Paul Parrell for second place with 57.

Rookie Ross McDonald and Bill Chisholm also scored twice, the other goals going to Usselman, Whitey Nelson and Bill Robinson.

Ted Liebich scored two goals for Nanaimo and Larry Clarkson, Larry Bligs, Ed McDonald, Murray Thomas and Terry Davis added one goal each.

All-star goalie Merv Schweizer was back in the nets for the first time this season. John Cervi will be back when the clubs play again Saturday in Nanaimo.

Fred Usselman is playing regularly again. Bill Barbour is attending practices, and Wayne Pecknold is expected back momentarily.

The win got Alex MacKay's club back into second place, three points behind New Westminster and one up on Victoria Shamrocks.

Vancouver fashioned the win before one of the smallest crowds of the season, some 500 fans.

Angels Seek B.C. Honors

The Angels are playing in Vancouver Saturday—the Esquimalt Angels that is.

They won the Vancouver Island midget girls' softball championship last weekend at Nanaimo by sweeping the best-of-three series, 12-2 and 17-7, from Pleasant Valley.

Saturday they take on the mainland champs in the provincial final.

Swim Entry At Big Total

PORT ALBERNI — Entries have been received from seven clubs and more than 400 participants are expected for the sixth annual Vancouver Island swimming and diving championships to be held here July 4-5.

Heats for the 96 events start Saturday at noon with diving events Sunday at 9:30 a.m., and finals at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Vancouver Demands Okay with Toronto

VANCOUVER (CP) — Toronto Maple Leaf vice-president Harold Ballard says the club is ready to accept seven conditions civic authorities should be met before the city gives the club a coliseum site.

"I see no problems regarding the conditions," said Ballard when he read the list.

It included stipulations that a hotel must not be constructed on the land, the coliseum should be equipped to handle conventions, the owners must pay all city taxes and other charges, and the architectural design must not conflict with the Queen Elizabeth theatre which will be adjacent to the proposed coliseum.

City council today is expected to debate the Leafs' offer and the seven conditions recommended by its planning department.

The Leafs have offered to build a 20,000-seat, $8,000,000 coliseum if given downtown land estimated to be worth about $2,000,000.

Mr. Ballard, in a telephone interview, denied reports his organization is considering construction of a hotel on the site.

TORONTO (CP) — As far as the 17-year-old Toronto track star, Abigail Hoffman, is concerned, she will be running for herself — not her country — at the Tokyo Olympics next October.

City Star Edged Out In Trials

MONTREAL (CP) — Two Montrealers, Val Harit and Mike Carpenter, won their opening matches against Vancouver rivals Tuesday in the first round trials to fill two empty berths on Canada's Davis Cup team.

Harit dropped Bob Puddicombe 6-4, 6-4 and Carpenter easily disposed of Reldor Getz 6-2, 6-2.

In their first-round play, Jim Ionidas of Winnipeg knocked over Brian Flood of London, Ont., in straight sets 6-4, 6-4, and Terry O'Donnell, also of London, edged Don McCormick of Victoria 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Canada meets Australia here July 13-19 in the Davis Cup tie. Quebec ace Francois Godbout and Keith Carpenter, currently winding up a European tour, have already been named to the four-man team.

Seale, the former Oregon State star who was runner-up to Lions' Pete Kempf as Western Football Conference rookie-of-the-year last season, was one of six Canadian players who were having troubles coming to terms with the club.

The number has now been reduced to two. Halfback Sonny Homer signed late last night. Nanaimo end Greg Findlay agreed to a three-year pact Monday, and halfback Bill Lasseter signed for one year at the same time.

The two still arguing as Lions' prepare to open their training camp today in Courtenay are guard Steve Cotter and halfback Neal Beaumont, who have been holdouts for the past three years.

JOHNNY WHITE, voted rookie of the year after his fourth-place finish in the Indianapolis 500, may never walk again. The 32-year-old White suffered what doctors term permanently paralyzed legs after breaking his neck in a sprint car event June 14 in Terre Haute, Ind., bills calling for establishment of a national boxing commissioner and anti-trust law exemptions for professional sport have passed one hurdle and now go before the U.S. Senate judiciary committee.

MINNESOTA TWINS, looking for pitching to go with all that power, have bought righthander Johnny Klippstein from Philadelphia Phillies, who in turn put pitcher Cal McLish back on the active list. Ed Lopat, fired as Kansas City manager three weeks ago, has taken front office jobs concerning player personnel... Washington has called up righthander Carl Bouldin from Toronto in exchange for reliever Marshall Bridges.

OSCAR THORSLAND, who broke his leg and missed most of last season with Ottawa Rough Riders, has written the club that he won't be back this year either. Seems he broke his leg again... medical reports indicate third baseman Max Alvis of Cleveland is winning his fight with spinal meningitis. Just hauling off and naming Hogan you have to be ignoring a bunch of greats such as Sam Snead, Byron Nelson, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and even at this stage of his career, Arnold Palmer.

But for one-two-three on an all-time basis I'd have to make it Hogan, Snead and Palmer.

Flip the pages of the record book and you get the peg on Bantam Ben. The poker-faced phenom from Dublin — Texas, that is — won four U.S. Open championships, two PGA's, two Masters and the British Open. His record of 274 still stands in the Masters as well as his 276 in the U.S. Open. And this year in the Masters he warmed up those old bones long enough to post a 67.

Snead still swings a mean stick at 52, as he proved in winning the PGA seniors championship last winter. If he ever had won the U.S. Open, in which he finished second four times, he'd rank at the top. But you can't take away those other credentials which include 114 tournament triumphs over a 25-year span, three Masters, three PGA's and the British Open.

Ask a couple of years from now and the answer might unequivocally be Palmer, unless ever-increasing talent and a young man named Jack Nicklaus chop him down. Palmer's record at 34, and after only nine years on the tour, is fantastic. He has won more than 40 tournaments, is the only man to have won the Masters four times and all has taken the U.S. and British Opens. All this against exploding opposition.

Lesser fields is what legislates against Hagen, Sarazen and Nelson. They were great winners. Hagen taking five PGA titles, four British and two U.S. Opens. Sarazen, too, won them all in the long ago, while Nelson posted his enviable record during the war years. Still, even against elderly croquet players, you can't knock 19 tournament wins in a row and 113 straight finishes in the money.

If there was one thing which made it for Hogan it was his implacable desire as well as his record. He went against croquet fields but always it was the "Wee Wee Mon" they had to beat. And he scored his greatest triumphs after almost losing his life in an auto accident.

Palmer needs only one or two more of his fabulous years to sprout so close to the top of them all that whoever is racing

Top U.S. Pair Upset By Unseeded Anzacs

LONDON (CP)—An unseeded pair of New Zealanders upset the top-seeded U.S. men's doubles team of Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston Tuesday at the Wimbledon lawn tennis championships here.

Gerrard and Ian Crookenden pulled one of the surprises of the tournament when they beat the U.S. pair in a quarter-final match 4-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3, 7-5.

The Americans had victory in their grasp when they broke through Gerrard's service to lead 4-2 in the final set, but before the Wimbledon crowd roaring them on, the New Zealanders immediately captured McKinley's delivery and then levelled at 4-4.

The New Zealanders went on to win the set 7-5.

Earlier Tuesday, a 21-year-old California girl earned the right to turn the clock back a year.

Last year bespectacled Bille-Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, the top-ranked player in U.S. women's tennis, was beaten in her match for the historic Wimbledon championship by Margaret Smith of Australia.

After a win Tuesday placed her in the semi-finals of the 1964 Wimbledon tournament, she found her way barred by the same Miss Smith.

The American and Australian girls will meet Thursday.

Miss Smith, as reigning champion, is seeded No. 1 in this year's tournament. She won her place in the semi-finals with a victory Tuesday over unseeded Norma Baylon of Argentina. Miss Baylon retired with the score 6-9, 2-0.

OTHER SEMI

Lesley Turner of Australia will meet No. 2 seed Maria Bueno of Brazil in the other semi-final match Thursday. The Brazilian girl disposed of Australia's Robyn Ebbern Tuesday 6-4, 6-1.

Moss Moffitt was in sparring form Tuesday in her 6-3, 6-5 win over Britain's Anne

City council intends to hold fast to its policy of charging 10 per cent of the gross gate for use of Royal Athletic Park despite a somewhat peevish letter from the Greater Victoria Baseball Association.

Council, in committee, considered the letter yesterday. It asked a stated fee, if any, rather than the 10 per cent deal and was unhappy about council's system of placing its own ticket salesman and takers on the gate.

Warren pointed out that the ball club was offering a $1,000 prize for a tournament it was staging here. Under such circumstances, said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, the club's request was just plain unreasonable.

It was pointed out that if this club or any club wanted to use the park without charging admission but with the right to take up a silver collection, it could do so free.

"They told us they were happy about this arrangement last year. We've gone over backward for these baseball people," said Ald. Cecil Parrott.

Telecast of Olympics Possible by Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Joseph E. Karth (Dem., Minn.) said recently it now appears likely that this year's Olympic games in Japan will be carried world-wide on live television through use of Syncom, the high-altitude communications satellite.

The U.S. state department and private enterprise, Karth said, have worked out all but a few details to permit the carrying of the games in October.

Karth is chairman of a House of Representatives science and astronautics subcommittee dealing with space science and advanced research and technology.

Karth said "the Japanese, the Canadians, the British and the National Broadcasting Company (in the U.S.) have agreed to share the financial burden."

Hogan-Snead-Palmer 1-2-3 on Fraley List

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ask who is the greatest golf pro of all time and it looks from this corner today as if you have to go with the "Wee Wee Mon."

That would be Bantam Ben Hogan, tagged by the Scots when he went over and won the British Open in his only crack at Britain's best. And, at 52, from tee to green he still has to stand as a great.

Of course, it's all a matter of opinion.

City Rowing Club Sets Action Plans

The Victoria Rowing Club will be 10 years old next year. It hasn't been a strapping child, but if present plans materialize, it will be a strong, healthy stripling by its birthday.

The club executive will be making an appeal to the youth of the district to take up rowing as a sport. A membership drive will be held and an effort made to interest schools in forming clubs. A particular pitch will be made to the University of Victoria, a natural habitat, the executive feels, for a strong club.

The club's boathouse and launching ramp is at the north-west corner of Elk Lake off Brookleigh Road, a location it has occupied since its formation.

Ready for use on Elk Lake are an exercise barge, one four and one eight. Ready for use after repairs are two fours and a two.

At the moment most of the oarsmen interested in the club are Europeans but it is felt that there is a great reservoir of youngsters in the area to whom the sport would appeal and an effort is going to be made to get in touch with them.

Victoria Jaycee Winner

Victoria Jaycee Don Mathison capped a series of five public-speaking contests by winning the Jaycees' All-Canadian championship in a speakoff at Kelowna Monday.

Mr. Mathison defeated John Wright of Kitchener, Ont., to win the contest. His topic was "Biculturalism in Canada," the same topic that he used to win the Western Canada championship in Calgary last month.

The two finalists presented their speeches at the Junior Chamber's national convention.

Mr. Mathison is a past vice-president of the Victoria association.

Jail Term Imposed For Fraud

Surjit Singh, 884 Colville, was sentenced to four months in jail on each of seven charges of false pretences when he appeared in police court, yesterday. The sentences are concurrent.

Magistrate William Ostler noted that not only had the accused said he was trying to get money to feed his wife and children while he was not living with his wife, but that one of the seven worthless cheques was cashed while Singh was on bail awaiting trial.

Kenneth Fisher was sentenced to 14 months for breaking and entering.

The charge arose from an attempt to steal a safe from Victoria Bottling Exchange recently.

Clarence Foster, who admitted recording bets for an unidentified third person at his place of employment at 709 Johnson was fined $200.

Douglas John Forscutt, 971 Dunn, was remanded for sentence on two charges of assault. Evidence showed that the accused had entered a Colonist "paper shack" and asked Lawrence Cole, 16, and David Koerman, 15, for cigarettes. When they refused he hit and kicked them.

The offence occurred about 5:45 a.m.

Reach for Top

Victoria Wins Series

Victoria students last night beat their final rivals in the Reach for the Top TV series to become this season's grand champions.

Victoria's Team Two defeated the mainland series winners from the Okanagan Centre of Westbank 370 to 205. Members of the winning team are Randy Burgoyne and Linda Lodge of Mount Douglas and Steve Bigsby and Jack MacDonald of Oak Bay.

The division—Team One and Team Two—for Victoria contestants was the result of a split of the original team.

The single team, which earlier in the series represented Victoria, was so strong as to almost make "no contest" with the teams they opposed.

The two Victoria teams ultimately met each other to decide who would go against the lower mainland finalists.

But all schools in Victoria are winners as the result of both the earlier victories of the two teams and Team Two's final victory. Prizes are given to school districts, not to individual contestants or schools.

Each of the five secondary schools in the Greater Victoria district will therefore receive: One set of International Encyclopaedia Americana valued at $350; one set of the Book of Popular Science valued at $90; one Funk and Wagnall Dictionary, $35; and scholarships to each school valued at $320.

Last night's win means an additional $1,500. It will be split five ways to give each school $300.

Thus, the two teams in their climb to the top have brought to their schools prizes and money to the value of $5,875.

All secondary schools had one or more representatives on one team or the other: Enquilmalt, Mount View and Victoria Secondary schools, as well as Mount Douglas and Oak Bay.

Pender Harbor

Matriarch Of Sechelt Dead at 90

Grand Matriarch of the Sechelt tribe, Mrs. Agnes John, died on Monday at Pender Harbor after a life of educating young members of the tribe in Indian prayers and traditions.

Her age was placed as somewhere between 90 and 106.

She is survived by her sisters Mrs. Cecile August, Sechelt, and Mrs. Rory Augustine, Seattle; one daughter, Mrs. Alma Peters of Port Alberni, and sons Rent, James and Wilfred.

Holiday Brings Live Talent

There's quite an imposing array of live entertainment on the griddle for Dominion Day in Victoria.

A band concert, conducted by Capt. J. M. Gayfer, starts the ball rolling at the Cameron Shell in Beacon Hill Park at 2:30 p.m. The guest soloist is soprano Adele Goult Lewis.

The program includes items from opera, marches, novelties, Broadway musical numbers, a trumpet solo and Latin-American selections.

This affair is presented through the AF of M trust fund.

At 8:30 p.m. the fourth summer season of Sunset Shows starts on the stage at the Butchart Gardens.

The opening program which continues every Wednesday and Friday during July is a sparkling, colorful and fast-moving musical revue, Rhythm and Romance. This employs about 60 performers including six principals, the Varsity Singers, the Theatrical Arts dancers and George Fairfield's orchestra.

Also at 8:30 p.m. but at the Oak Bay Auditorium the Smile Show of 1964 runs into its third night; a British music hall entertainment packed with laughs, music and color.

Farther afield there are big doings at Sidney where 1964-65 Queen Joan Gardner is to be crowned by retiring Queen and Miss PNE Linda Douma.

Entertainment in the afternoon and dance music in the evening will be provided by Fred

Usher, his band and guest artists.

A parade and various festivities take place also at Crofton-Chemainus. Here Victoria singer and entertainer, Frankie Scott, is a featured performer at the afternoon program.

Orchestra To Play Outdoors

A series of four Symphony Concerts begins Saturday at the Butchart Gardens.

The concerts, by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Otto Werner-Muller, are being re-introduced as part of the Gardens' 60th anniversary.

They will include selections from popular classical works and will feature Canada's leading clarinetist, Rafael Masella.

The concerts, Saturday, and July 5, August 2 and 26, will begin at 4 p.m.

There will be no extra charge for visitors to the gardens. Included in the programs will be Mozart's Serenade in Go for String Orchestra, Eine Kleine Nacht, and selections from Greig's Peer Gynt Suite.

B.C. Choir Leaving On Tour

VANCOUVER (CP)—Twenty-eight members of the famed Elgar Choir of B.C. will leave here today aboard the liner Oronsay for a round-the-world singing tour.

The group, of 26 girls and two boys, between 12 and 18, will fill 28 singing engagements in major cities of Asia, Europe and the United States.

The tour, the 11th world tour for the choir, will last two months. Cost of the trip will be borne by the individual singers.

Detention Law Gets Extension

PRETORIA (Reuters)—The 90-day detention law, under which persons in South Africa can be held without charge for successive periods of 90 days, was extended for a year by a proclamation published in the official Government Gazette, Tuesday.

Stricken Manila Paralyzed In Aftermath of Typhoon

Congolese Situation 'None Too Promising'

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary-General Thant in a report critical of the Congolese army said Tuesday the future of The Congo "looks none too promising."

The 29,600-man Congo army would be unable to cope with any major crisis, he said in a report sent to the Security Council on the ending of the UN operation.

Oslo Speech

Nikita Urges Treaty To Unite Germany

OSLO (Reuters) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev called Tuesday night for a peace treaty between East and West Germany as a step toward lasting European security and total disarmament.

The Kremlin leader told the Norwegian Institute of International Affairs it was high time the knot of contrasts preventing a solution of the German question was cut.

He said a peace treaty between the two German states would "prevent the aggressive forces in West Germany from building up an aggressive, vengeful atmosphere."

READ EXCERPTS

In his only public speech in Norway Tuesday night, Khrushchev contented himself with reading the first and last pages of the text in Russian, leaving the rest to be read by his Norwegian interpreter.

In the speech, Khrushchev praised the Scandinavian countries and Finland for choosing policies that created a basis for consolidating peace in Northern Europe.

He said their best guarantee of safety would be neutrality.

Assuring his audience that Russia had "no treacherous plans concerning Norway," Khrushchev said Northern Europe was quieter than many other parts of the world.

He said one of the important factors helping to preserve peace in the area was the actively peaceful policy of Finland and the neutrality of Sweden.

SAME VIEWS

Khrushchev's remarks on the German question were in keeping with views expressed in a meeting with Norwegian Premier Einar Gerhardsen earlier in the day.

The Russian premier was reported to have emphasized the urgent need for a solution to the German problem and to have presented Russian proposals for a peace treaty between East and West Germany, with Berlin as a separate entity.

But Gerhardsen was reported to have told the Soviet leader it was not possible to reach a solution that was not based on self-determination.

Khrushchev, in the 14th day Tuesday of an 18-day tour of Scandinavia, arrived here Monday from Stockholm after visits to Denmark and Sweden.

MANILA (AP)—Battered by the worst typhoon in decades, Manila lay paralyzed Tuesday night with at least 10 reported dead, scores injured and hundreds homeless. Police estimated damage at $5,000,000.

The city of 2,000,000 inhabitants was without lights except for a small downtown area, there was no water and streets were choked by fallen trees, power and telephone poles and debris. All relief agencies were mobilized for action.

VEERED SOUTH

Typhoon Winnie roared in Monday night with 60-mile-an-hour winds and rose in fury with 90-mile gusts early Tuesday. It had been expected to pass north of this Philippine capital, as typhoons usually do. Instead it veered south and the eye of the storm passed directly over Manila.

Communications were cut with the provincial area of central Luzon and the full extent of casualties and damage could not be learned.

DROWNED

All the dead reported so far perished in the flood waters of Manila, in swollen rivers nearby and in Manila Bay. Scores were injured by flying debris and collapsing homes, mostly shanties. A Swedish freighter, M. S. Nordvind of the United Marine Lines, and the Panamanian ship Juno were blown from their moorings in Manila port and grounded in shallow waters.

PLANES DAMAGED

Hundreds of cars and buses were stalled in flooded city areas. Many were crushed by falling trees and utility poles. At suburban Nichols Field, 15 Philippine C-47 transport planes were badly damaged when they were tossed about.

The typhoon was the first to hit Manila directly since 1947, but that one was not so severe.

Fatal Crash

Driver Faces Charge

CAMPBELL RIVER — A driver was charged with criminal negligence only hours after a car crash killed a 47-year-old Campbell River man at 1:30 a.m. yesterday.

Police said Douglas Alderson, who moved here recently from Courtenay, died after the car sheared off a power pole outside Sutton's funeral parlor on the Island Highway only 400 yards from the RCMP station.

Driver Jose Matias, 22, of Campbell River, who was not injured, was charged in magistrate's court later in the morning with criminal negligence and was released on $4,000 bail.

Passenger Howard Cameron, whose home address was not given, is in satisfactory condition in hospital. Passenger Clarence MacAskill of Willow Point hurt a leg.

Police said no inquest will be held.

Dead Man Blamed For Crash

LAKE COWICHAN — The dead man was blamed by a coroner's jury last night for the flaming, two-truck collision on the Youbou Road June 20 which killed Youbou log contractor Harold Whittingham, 36.

The jury called the death accidental, said Mr. Whittingham's pickup truck was on the wrong side of the road and specifically cleared the other driver of any blame.

The second driver, A. G. Abrahams of Howard Road in Duncan, testified that the pickup truck "came straight at me . . . I jammed on the brakes . . . there was an explosion."

Islanders Invited By NDP

NANAIMO — All members of the New Democratic Party and all unionists on Vancouver Island have been invited to a picnic on Newcastle Island Sunday.

The picnic is being staged by the NDP associations in the Nanaimo-Islands and Cowichan-Newcastle ridings.

A small, foot-passenger ferry runs to the island from Madill's near the Nanaimo area and there is room to leave cars on the Nanaimo side. Ice cream and coffee will be available at the picnic, which will include children's races.

Silence Rules Strike-Hit Street

Total Welfare State Feared by Manning

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Manning of Alberta said Tuesday implementation of the Hall royal commission recommendations would mean a "complete welfare state set-up."

Mr. Manning was addressing nearly 750 dentists attending the annual convention of the Canadian Dental Association.

He said he agreed with the objectives of the commission which were to study means for establishing a complete health service program available to all Canadians.

But its interpretation of these objectives was "open to question and challenge."

He said placing the responsibility for health services 100 per cent on the shoulders of government "strikes at the heart of free society and individual independence."

"You can't have freedom without individual responsibility."

To make governments entirely responsible for health care would rob the individual of his independence.

Mr. Manning added that the concept of the commission's report was also wrong because it endorsed the principle that a state operation could be confined to one field of professional services.

Family Crew Wins Race

A Victoria family out for an afternoon sail captured top honors in their class in the opening race of the Pacific International Yachting Association's week-long annual regatta, this year at Bellingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Anstey, of 1234 Union Road, with a crew consisting of sons Chris and Dave and daughter Louise aboard the 26-foot Hussy, captured first place in the racing class in the 20-mile race from Decatur Island to Bellingham.

Visiting Vocal Groups Offer Mood, Harmony

The Harvard Glee Club and the Radcliffe Choral Society, in their premier performance last night at the Royal Theatre, brought to Victorians a program of varied mood and harmony.

The audience was captivated by the superb handling of Bach's Komm, Jesu, Komm, conducted by Elliot Forbes, and accompanied by Malcolm Brown and William Christie.

Two of a group of three madrigals saluted the first Queen Elizabeth and the third, Silence and Music, was written in honor of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

Robert McKelvin sang the solo part of The Boatman's Dance, a rollicking minstrel song. A unique selection was Carter's The Defence of Corinth, a humorous experience in choral onomatopoeia. Also enjoyed were Bought Locks and I Know Where I'm Going, sung by the Radcliffe Choral Society.

The entire performance was an example of tonal quality and control.

June Normal? Well, No Snow, Anyway

"There was no snowfall in June, as is normal." That's about the best the weatherman could say for the month of June which departed yesterday in a blaze of summer sunshine.

July? Well, he'd rather not say, beyond today's forecast of sunny and warm. As for June, it was the fourth-worst on record for sunshine, with a total of 199 hours and 30 minutes — 77 hours and 13 minutes below normal.

It was also one of the dullest June's ever recorded, with a mean temperature of 55.8 degrees — 1.5 degrees below normal. There were 12 days with measurable precipitation, which is five more than usual, although the rainfall measured only .03 inches more than average, with a total of 1.09 inches. The highest recorded temperature was 74.4 degrees, on June 9, while the low of 47.3 was recorded on June 25.

The miserable totals left Victoria well off the standard for the year. The city has had a total of 968 hours and 12 minutes of sunshine, which is 107 hours below average, while the rainfall is .09 above average at 13.11 inches.

Kinsmen Proposal: New Look For Thetis

A brand new look for Thetis Lake park has been suggested to city council by Vic-Van-Isle Kinsmen Club.

The new look would include construction of a change house, a new food concession building, new picnic tables and playground equipment, and development of a sand beach.

Better over-all policing and supervision has also been suggested.

The big face-lift, which would cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, was given guarded approval by members of council yesterday.

A meeting will be arranged at the park during which members of the service club will explain the improvements they have in mind.

SYMPATHETIC
Past president of the club, Sandy Grant, was spokesman for the Kinsmen delegation which appeared before members of council sitting in committee.

Mayor R. B. Wilson pointed out that while he was sympathetic to the plan and realized it would be an excellent thing for the park, it did highlight the whole problem of parks outside of the city.

It pointed up the need for an area parks group, perhaps along the lines of the inter-services board proposed by provincial Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell in his joint services plan.

Victoria couldn't continually pour money into outside parks, the mayor said. It was time a general area effort was made in this respect.

NOT SATISFACTORY

Telling of break-ins and vandalism at the park, Mr. Grant said that policing left a lot to be desired. He believed RCMP of the Colwood detachment were responsible for the area but policing had been far from satisfactory.

On one occasion, said Mr. Grant, a club member was told by a member of the traffic squad that he, the constable, could not get out of his car to appraise damage in the park because he was expected to stay within earshot of his police radio.

"Surely there must be some misunderstanding" in this case, said Ald Geoffrey Edgelow. "It just doesn't seem possible." He suggested that Mayor Wilson get in touch with senior RCMP officials and straighten the matter out. The mayor agreed.

Mr. Grant said the club was planning a five-mile marathon swim at Thetis over the weekend of August 14-15 and hoped to have some of its improvement plans in effect by that time.

Under the Kinsmen plan the ground will be levelled and clean sand spread.

Kinsmen will take saws into the park and cut up trees which have been felled or blown over by the wind. The wood so obtained will be donated to the needy.

BEACH FOR TOTS

New directional signs to the park will be erected and, at the entrance, there will be a carved name sign similar to that at Beacon Hill park.

Better and more parking facilities will be developed and a retaining wall built in the water 15 to 20 feet from the shore to develop a beach for children and non-swimmers.

"Our idea," said the Kinsmen report, "is to make this one of the city's prettiest natural parks, and with your assistance, we endeavor to make this come true. We of the Vic-Van-Isle Kinsmen have this as our main community project and over the years we hope to see our dreams become reality."

Something for All

Victoria Area Parks Ready for Tourists

By MIKE GADSBY

Nearly 30 major parks—and dozens of smaller ones—which dot the Greater Victoria area are ready for the annual influx of summer visitors looking for rest and recreation.

The biggest collection is in Saanich, which has 45 parks of varying sizes and amenities, plus four others—two owned by the city of Victoria, another held in trust by Victoria, and a fourth owned by the provincial government.

One of the most interesting and popular is Francis Park, owned by the provincial government and run by the Junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society.

Although it has no tables or picnic equipment for the picnicker, it offers more than any other for the nature lover.

The park includes 153 acres of rain forest, swamp and marshland, thus offering the visitor a variety of plant and animal life.

There are three miles of trails in the park, and a nature house which offers displays of plant and animal life to be found in the park.

Beach Frontage

Biggest park in the Saanich area — except for Elk Lake, which is mostly water — is Mount Douglas Park. It consists of 365 acres held in trust by the city of Victoria.

This heavily-treed area, which includes several hundred yards of beach frontage, is regarded as a cool place on a hot day.

Its facilities include fresh water and picnic tables. Although the sea water is cold, many children still find it warm enough to swim in.

The park covers 365 acres, including miles of trails and a road to the top of Mount Douglas which affords a fine view of the Saanich Peninsula, south to the Olympic Peninsula, east to the mainland and west to the Sooke Hills.

Another Saanich park owned by Victoria is Elk Lake, which offers picnic tables, fresh water swimming, toilet facilities, a food and drink concession and fresh running water.

Popular Spot

This has long been a popular spot for swimming enthusiasts who find the ocean too cold for comfortable swimming.

Another swimming area is Prospect Park, on Prospect Lake Road, which runs west off West Saanich Road.

This park has picnic tables, fresh running water, toilets and change rooms, and is on the shore of Prospect Lake.

Bear Hill Park, which offers 58 rustic acres, is largely undeveloped except for a few picnic tables. It offers well-developed woodland trails for the outdoors enthusiast.

Cadboro-Gyro Park is noted for Cadborosaurus, a 65-foot concrete sea serpent which has proved popular with children since it was built there last year. It also offers picnic tables, change rooms and an attractive curved beach. It is at the foot of Sinclair Road in Cadboro Bay.

Hampton Park, at Hampton and Tillicum, is mainly devoted to sports, and its facilities include bowling, a horseshoe pitch, lacrosse and soccer area, and a playground area for small children.

Picnic Tables

There are also picnic tables and shower and toilet facilities. Laysitz Park, off Wilkinson Road, offers picnic tables, fresh water, a baseball diamond, a large tree area and a children's play area.

Logan Park, situated on Viaduct Road, which runs west off Interurban Road, is mostly undeveloped, but offers an excellent place for weekend camping.

It has picturesque rock outcroppings, a stream, and is heavily wooded.

Sutherland Moves Into Driver's Seat

The controversial appointment of Joseph Sutherland as Saanich fire chief has taken effect.

Retiring Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Law said last night that his career as chief ended, and Chief Sutherland's began, at the end of the working day yesterday.

ARBITRATION ASKED

John Gault, lawyer for the Saanich firefighters' union, which opposed Chief Sutherland's appointment, reiterated last night that the union will ask the B.C. government Labor Relations Board to arbitrate the appointment under the union's contract with Saanich.

The union opposes the appointment mainly because it feels a Saanich firefighter should have been given the post. Chief Sutherland was a member of the Victoria Fire Department.

Chief Sutherland said last night that he does not want to comment extensively on his new position until the dispute over his appointment is finally settled.

Chief Law was hired from the Victoria fire department and made chief in 1940, when the Saanich fire department consisted of a half-dozen men. There now are 44 men on the fire department staff.

STAYING HERE

Chief Law said last night that he will continue to live in Greater Victoria.

He said he plans to do some fishing and cruising in his boat this summer and take a trailer trip through the United States with his wife this fall.

In Court Thursday

Robbery Suspect Arrives

A former Vancouver beer parlor waiter was brought in custody from London, Ont., last night to face a charge of armed robbery of the Cook and Quadra branch of the Bank of Montreal April 24.

Philip Arthur Carew, 27, of Oakville, Ont., was arrested in London, Saturday.

He arrived at Patricia Bay airport at 11:30 p.m. yesterday in the custody of Det. Charles Truett of the Saanich police department. He will appear in Saanich magistrate's court at 10 a.m. Thursday.

A warrant for Carew's arrest was issued 48 hours after the holdup which netted four men $7,300, more than half of which has been recovered.

Three men have been sentenced for the robbery. Jean Cheslain Robitaille and Roland Joseph Dagenais, both from eastern Canada, and Clarence William Kraft of Victoria, have all been given 10-year penitentiary terms by Magistrate William Ostler.

Kraft defended himself through several days of his trial and then pleaded guilty after suffering a slashed wrist while in the Saanich police cells.

Four men used two cars in the robbery—carried out just before closing time at the bank.

Robitaille surrendered in a Victoria hotel two days later, and Kraft and Dagenais were arrested by eastern U.S. officers.

James Bay

Centre

Awaits

Rezoning

Work on a $900,000 James Bay shopping centre will begin within 60 days if city council grants permission for the rezoning of eight lots near the corner of Croft and Simcoe Streets.

The centre will be the project of Mace Homes & Investments Ltd., the same company which is building the Lord Simcoe high rise adjacent to the shopping centre site.

VILLAGE THEME

The company plans the shopping centre as a complement to the high rise. A spokesman said yesterday the village theme would be carried throughout as a relief to the high rise development which is taking place in the area.

In its letter to city council, Rithet Consolidated Limited, which is handling the details for Mace, states that options are held on all eight lots. Intention was to create a shopping mall on the west side of the site. Around the mall will be grouped a large grocery store, a bank, restaurant and other small shops.

OPEN SPACE

Open space will be on the Simcoe Street side of the site creating an expansive area between the mall and the high rise.

The company will have $1,000 feet of rentable floor space when the project is finished and there will be parking space for 147 cars.

The Safeway store already there will be relocated, and in addition to the businesses mentioned, there will be a drug store and a small bowling alley.

Courtesy

Courtesy tickets now are being used by Victoria police for out-of-province motorists who commit minor parking violations, says Victoria Police Chief J. F. Gregory.

Chief Gregory said the tickets, which were delivered Monday by the Victoria Visitors Bureau, are being used for minor infractions by out-of-province cars, but don't apply to rush-hour parking infractions when cars are towed away.

For Tourists

Saanich Uses Arrows

Bright yellow arrows which have appeared on Saanich streets in the past two weeks represent an attempt by Saanich to inform Greater Victoria tourists without confusing them.

Saanich officials have asked the Victoria Visitors' Bureau to pass the word along to tourists who come here by car.

CONFUSING

The Saanich police department isn't fussy about the yellow centre lines used in other Greater Victoria municipalities to mark recommended tourist scenic drives. Yellow is the normal color for traffic markings in many states, say Saanich police, and the tourist could be confused.

So Saanich uses yellow arrows and puts them in a position on the pavement unlike that used for white traffic-direction arrows.

Saanich has been renewing its yellow tourist arrows in the past couple of weeks and has been making them bigger than in previous years.

Shun Wing Collars

Comfort, Not Correctness Wins in Male Fashions

By JEAN SHARP
TORONTO (CP) — With the trend in male fashions more and more emphasizing the casual look, the occasions when a man has to go formal create confusion.

"People don't do what is proper, they wear what is comfortable," says Syd Silver whose firm sells and rents formal clothes.

For an evening wedding that is completely formal, only tails are correct, he says. Men shy away from them because of the wing-collared shirt they must wear. They choose white or black dinner jackets which are semi-formal and thus not quite correct. Even on long summer evenings when the sun doesn't set until late, tails are the thing after six o'clock, Mr. Silver maintains.

Tails take a white bowtie, white waistcoat, white gloves, white or pearl studs and cufflinks and a black silk top hat.

GREY FOR DAYTIME

For a formal daytime wedding, morning dress or a director's suit is correct. Both are worn with grey striped trousers. Morning dress includes a grey cutaway, grey double-breasted waistcoat, silk ascot with wing collar or a four-in-hand with a turn-down collar, grey silk gloves, silk top hat, pearl stickpin, pearl or stone studs and cufflinks.

The director's suit has a grey, short jacket and is worn with a four-in-hand.

Mr. Silver says men begin wearing white dinner jackets before summer, even though they shouldn't, probably because they like them. He says he gets little call for striped, plaid or metallic dinner jackets, presumably because it takes an extra dollop of self-confidence to wear them.

Evening clothes have followed the same pattern as business clothes. Coats are shorter, shoulders more natural, trousers narrower than they were even a few years ago.

For most dinner, dance and theatre evenings men wear what Mr. Silver calls the old reliable plain black tux or tropical, with black, midnight blue or wine-bowtie and matching cummerbund. A pleated shirt goes with the outfit usually but because little of it shows a man can wear an ordinary French-cuffed white shirt.

Cummerbunds have hidden advantages. "They hide the sloppiness of the shirts and hold a fellow's waist in a bit."

Black shoes and sock are musts with any variation on the formal theme. Shoes need no longer be patent leather but they should be smooth-toed and lightweight.

Page-Blake

Flowers In Hair

Bouquets of white gladiolus, chrysanthemums and daisies decorated Metropolitan United Church for the marriage of Lynore Blake and Mr. Gordon Graham Page.

Rev. E. Laura Butler performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Blake, 2280 Dolphin Road, Swartz Bay, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Page, 398 Gorge Road West.

Mr. A. Husband sang the Lord's Prayer and 23rd Psalm during the wedding.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of ribbed silk, elegantly appliqued with bridal roses of Gulpure lace edged in seed pearls. Styled with lily point sleeves and a sweetheart neckline the gown featured a panelled wateau cathedral train. Her four-tiered chapel veil of silk illusion misted from a crown of white stephanotis. Her only jewelry was cultured pearl necklace and earring set and she carried a cascade of orchids, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Jack Bradshaw, bridesmatron, Mrs. Dennis Begg and bridesmaid, Miss Faye Schlickerowsky, were gowned alike in apple green peau de soie dresses styled with bateau necklines and belled skirts. They wore coronets of fresh flowers and carried white roses and Shasta daisies.

Mr. Jack Bradshaw was best man. Ushering guests to their pews were Mr. Cliff Procevia and Mr. Robert Simington.

Mr. Alex Main proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in Holyrood House.

For travelling the bride changed into a lemon yellow two-piece wool suit with matching floral hat and black patent accessories.

On their return from a motor trip through the interior of the province Mr. and Mrs. Page will make their home in Victoria.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. Hargin, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hargin and Kit, Seattle, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Kershaw and John, Mr. and Mrs. William French and Margaret and Jim, Mr. and Mrs. T. Kershaw with John, Bob and Tom, and Mr. and Mrs. J. MacDonald, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. L. Ross and Flovi, Lake Cowichan; Mrs. M. Raey, Shawigan Lake.

Mrs. Clair Knibbs, 944 Southgate Street, announces the forthcoming marriage of her only daughter, Donna St. Clair, to Mr. Thomas Norman Farkas, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Farkas, 960 Bruce Avenue, Nanaimo. The wedding will take place on Saturday, July 11 at 8 p.m. in First United Church with Rev. Dr. R. M. Thompson officiating. — (Chapman)

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My doctor told me our baby will be born in July between the 24th and the 31st.

Last week my husband asked if the doctor could be wrong and if the baby might come AFTER July 31st. That seemed like an off question so I asked what he had in mind. He replied, "July 31st is the end of the fiscal year of my business and I hope the baby isn't late or I will lose the deduction. I felt badly about that remark."

This morning I had a few pains and my husband said, "Wouldn't it be wonderful if the baby was premature?" This really burned me up. He then said most women love premature births so they can avoid those last miserable weeks of pregnancy. He added, "You should be so lucky."

Please set this ignoramus straight on the workings of nature.—MRS. P.G.

Dear P.G.: The ignoramus may not know much about the workings of nature but I presume he knows his own business.

The normal tax year ends December 31st, but apparently he has received special permission from the Internal Revenue Service to end his tax year July 31.

Now about the workings of nature: A full term baby is best—unless nature or the physician decides otherwise.

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago my husband came home from work and told me he was going to join the Army because he hates his job. Ollie said his happiest days were in the service (before we were married) and he wanted to make the Army his career. He suggested I take the baby and live with my mother until he could send for us. Knowing how bull-headed Ollie is I didn't try to talk him out of it.

For the last month I've been getting letters from Ollie saying he falls in bed dead every night and he isn't as young as he used to be. He hates his sergeant and his feet are killing him. I wrote him cheerful letters in return saying we are all well and happy, hoping to perk him up.

Yesterday Ollie wrote back saying, "Don't tell me how well and happy you are. Tell me you are having a nervous breakdown and that you need me home. I want to get out of here." What shall I do?—MRS. C.

Dear Mrs. C.: Continue to tell Ollie how well and happy you are—plus all the other cherry tidbits you can think of. You might also tell him that since he's going to have to serve his hitch he'd jolly well better make the best of it.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are in our middle 50's. Our two daughters 23 and 25 are supporting themselves—one teaches school, the other is a stenographer.

Both girls live in boarding houses, about 30 miles from here—in opposite directions. They come every Friday, bringing their dresses to be hemmed and their soiled laundry for me to wash. They leave late Sunday.

My husband and I worked hard to educate our daughters. He is a laborer and I am a seamstress. Our income is sufficient for us, but nothing is left over—extras or saving.

My question: How much are parents expected to do for their children and for how long? These girls have many friends over and they consume more food during the weekend than we do in two weeks. Never once have they bought so much as a spool of thread or a box of soap for their laundry.

My husband says this is their home and they are entitled to come here as guests whenever they want to. What do you think?—WEARY MOM

Dear Weary: Girls who come home every weekend with soiled laundry and dresses to be hemmed could hardly be considered guests. Your daughters are living home about one-third of the time whether they realize it or not.

If they wish to continue they should agree to buy all the weekend groceries and do their own laundry.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Chan, 835 Queens Avenue, announce the marriage of their second daughter, Vivian Rhoda, to Mr. Wo Ping Chin. The wedding took place in mid-June in New York City, where the newlyweds are now making their home. The bride, a former Victoria girl, graduated in apparel design in 1960 from the Fashion Institute of Technology. She has been taking extended courses in fashion illustration and art at the University of New York and plans to take further courses at the Parson's School of Design in New York this fall.

Sisters Meet After 45 Years

House guests at the Henderson Road home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stanley are Mrs. Stanley's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Lock, and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner, all of London. This is the first meeting in 45 years for the two sisters. The visitors from England came over on the Empress of Canada to Montreal and from there travelled by train to Vancouver. They will leave here on Saturday and will sail July 6 aboard the P and O liner Oriana for home by way of the Panama.

Party for Newlyweds

A party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Melhus, Victoria Avenue, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Ferguson, whose marriage took place recently. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Melhus, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. P. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wray, Mrs. M. Hill, Misses Judy Lubel, Jance Holmberg, Sherlie Watmaugh, Veronica Chapman, Lorna Sands, Mr. Don Christenson, Mr. Garry Tucker, Mr. John Rutherford, Mr. Rod Holker and Mr. Stuart Powers.

Bound for Europe are (left to right) Miss Geraldine Miller and Miss Heather Macdonald. They will sail from New York on the S.S. Rotterdam July 17 after having seen the World's Fair. Miss Macdonald is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ian Macdonald, Interurban Road and Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Miller of Goward Road. The girls plan to travel extensively in Europe and to work in England between trips to the Continent. Right now, their plans include Christmas in Switzerland.—(Peter Chapman)

Reed-Woodhead

Wed in Scotland

Wedding of interest to Victorians took place in High Church, Forres, Scotland, recently when Miss Doreen Christine Woodhead, elder daughter of Mrs. G. Woodhead, Forres, exchanged marriage vows with David Gordon Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Reed, 6923 Sooke Road, Victoria.

The groom is an officer in the RCAF and met his bride on a trip to RAF Kinloss, Scotland.

The bride wore a full-length gown of white slipper satin that featured long sleeves and full skirt that swept to a train. Her veil was short and bouffant. She carried a Bible topped with white rosebuds on ribbon.

ATTENDANTS

Bridesmaids, Miss Maureen Woodhead, the bride's sister, and Miss Lena Bachlejewicz, her cousin, wore full-length narium satin gowns with matching pill box headpieces. Mr. John Henderson, Forres, was best man. Rev. A. K. Fairlie officiated and the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Albert Munro, Forres.

Reception followed in Ramnee Hotel. Following a honeymoon trip touring Europe, the couple will make their home in Greenbanks, N.S.I.

Bride-Elect

Many Local Parties Honor Burnaby Girl

Many parties have been held in Victoria and Vancouver in honor of Miss Clair Ladner, of Burnaby, B.C., whose marriage takes place this coming Saturday to Mr. Roland Hawes, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Hawes.

Fifty guests were invited to the lovely Midland Road home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pendray for cocktails and a buffet dinner to honor the engaged couple. Large arrangements of white peonies decorated the drawing room. Rose corsages were presented to the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. G. B. Ladner. Also over from Burnaby for the dinner party were Mr. Ladner and Miss Roslyn Ladner.

Mrs. J. H. Downard entertained at a breakfast party at the Princess Mary in Miss Ladner's honor.

Another pleasant gathering took place at the Beach Drive home of Mrs. Jack Gillespie, when she entertained thirty guests at the tea hour in Miss Ladner's honor. The guest of honor was presented with a beautiful silver gallery tray, Colonial bouquets were presented by Mrs. C. A. Goodwin to the bride-elect, her mother, and the mother-of-the-groom. Covering the tea table was an antique lace net cloth caught at the corners with white satin lover's knot bows. The centerpiece was a bowl of white peonies and orange blossoms. Mrs. Gillespie was assisted in the dining room by Mrs. T. H. Johns and Mrs. Maurice Huber, while Mrs. R. L. Challoner assisted in receiving guests at the door.

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. V. A.

Downard, Kendal Rd., when she and her daughter, Miss Anne Downard entertained. The many beautiful gifts were arranged under a parasol gaily decorated in shades of gold, which blended with the floral arrangement of beautiful Johanna Hill roses which centred the dining table.

At her home of Falkland Road Mrs. F. W. Hawes entertained at the tea hour in honor of her future daughter-in-law. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. W. A. Pendray, Mrs. W. B. Dillabough, Mrs. Jack Gillespie, Mrs. John Gough, Mrs. A. W. Johns and Mrs. W. S. Moore. Serviteurs were Mrs. R. L. Challoner, Mrs. A. B. McNeil, Mrs. J. J. P. Hine, and Miss Donna-Rae Downard. The hostess was assisted in the drawing room by Mrs. J. B. Speck, Mrs. V. A. Downard and Mrs. J. H. Downard.

Garden Notes

Purslane the Pest

By M. V. CHESNUT FRMS

As many of my readers know, it has become my habit, when answering my mail, to enclose a packet of unique seeds of some kind with my reply — not always, of course, but when time permits, and when I happen to have some interesting seeds to share.

Earlier this season I had a letter from a lady asking advice on her roses. After scribbling my reply on the back of her letter and inserting it in her stamped and self-addressed envelope, I enclosed a packet of seeds of Portulaca grandiflora, which is a grand little ground-hugging annual flower, quick and easy from seed and thriving in hot, dry, sunny sites.

I got a letter back from her husband which showed the cream on the breakfast table when I read it to my family.

He berated me for sending out seeds of "this awful weed" and told me he had spent half his life in trying to eradicate Portulaca from his garden, and he made some suggestions as to the disposal of my surplus seeds which couldn't be printed in a family paper!

I can sympathize with my irate friend, for certainly the Portulaca weed, P. oleracea, is one of the most exasperating of all our garden invaders, and very difficult to eradicate. What he didn't realize, of course, is that my seeds were harmless garden flowers, quite incapable of becoming a pest even though they belong to the same family as the weed.

Portulaca weed, also known as purslane and pursley, owes its extraordinary powers of endurance to a rather clever trick on the part of Mother Nature. She fixes things so the seeds have widely varying period of germination; when a plant of purslane succeeds in scattering its seeds in your garden, some of them will come up within two weeks. Others will take a month, two months, six months. Even two years after every weed has been hoed out, purslane seedlings from the original seeding will still be coming up.

This is highly disconcerting and almost incomprehensible to the home gardener accustomed to dealing with ordinary plants. If he sows radish seeds, say, he knows they will all come up inside of a week and could be eliminated permanently with one stroke of the hoe.

Why, then, does this infernal Portulaca keep popping up out of the ground even after the beds have been weeded as clean as a whistle? The delayed germination is nature's provision to ensure that some individuals of the Portulaca race will survive the perils of the hoe and grazing animals to live, set seed, and perpetuate the race.

I wish I knew some easy and surefire way to eradicate purslane from the garden, but I don't. It can be killed with some of our modern weedkilling chemicals such as Killax and Complot, but you can't use these in close proximity to garden plants; nor will these chemicals kill the seeds which haven't yet come up.

The trick here, of course, is to make sure the stuff is never allowed to go to seed in your garden, and this means unremitting labor with the hoe right through to the end of the growing season. Portulaca weed often gets its chance to grow and scatter seed in the fall when enthusiasm for gardening has waned and the hoe has been hung up in the toolshed for the winter.

Strange as it may seem, purslane was once grown as a salad plant and as a vegetable for boiling like spinach, and there is no doubt that grazing animals are quite mad about it. In fact, Dr. Edwin Spencer, in his excellent book "Just Weeds," suggests the following method of eradication: "Feed it to the family, feed it to the hogs, feed it to the soil bacteria in the compost heap."

STANTON DELAPLANE'S Postcard from Jarnac

How Cognac Was Born

This is one of the loveliest parts of France. The little grey town of Jarnac lies on the Charente river.

The clear waters reflect shimmering rows of tall poplars. The grape vines are green lines on the white-chalk soil.

The ground is so chalky that the grapes produce a very acid wine. It is so poor that for years, other Frenchmen felt sorry for the people of Jarnac.

About 1700, Jarnac got tired of drinking poor wine — they are just above the Bordeaux region whose soil produces the famous Bordeaux wines. They decided to ship wine to England. (The English drank a lot of wine. But they mixed it with spices so you couldn't tell how it tasted.)

In order to cut the shipping costs, they distilled it. The idea was — that the English could add water to it — thus producing instant wine. They put the distilled wine in oak casks and sent it over.

The first Englishman who put a lip on this grape was surprised. "Cor, stone the crows!" he cried. "Cognac!"

Since that time, the people of Jarnac and the cognac region of France have become wealthy.

It appears that the poor grapes of the chalk region make mighty poor wine. But they make excellent brandy.

In fact, it is the only region of France that is allowed to label the stuff cognac. (Other regions can only label it "brandy".)

So the other day I had lunch with Francois and Robert Hine, makers of Hine cognac.

Curiously enough, the Hine cognac does not descend from a Frenchman at all. It comes from the Englishman, Thomas Hine.

(Just as Hennessy comes from dear old Ireland. Where are the French?)

In spite of his English descent, Mr. Francois Hine looks French and has the Maurice Chevalier accent when he speaks English.

The whole family lives in a 400-year-old house, hooked into a complex of distilleries and bottling rooms. A piece of mediaeval town gate still shows on the corner of the warehouse.

Like Scotch, cognac is blended by educated noses. If you tasted all day, it's obvious they'd have to carry you out at the end.

The Hine brothers sniff in a sniffing room — off the old-fashioned office. It looks a little like a kitchen. Sinks and taps and a tile counter.

They sniff out tulip-shaped sniffing glasses which hold the smell. The glasses are rinsed first with the brandy. Then they pour a little in and sniff it. When it smells right, they bottle it.

Voila! Instant cognac.

Mr. Thomas Hine came over in the early part of 1700 and something. He came from Beamster in Dorset. And the company folder says:

"He was evidently a man of independent mind, initiative and enterprise."

This is no doubt true. For he married the owner's daughter — ran into his father-in-law in the distillery one day and the old man took a liking to him.

He inherited the firm and changed the name to Hine. A success story.

Recently, Francois Hine was in England. He picked up an old pamphlet of the old days. A kind of news sheet of early England.

It shows drawings of soldiers looking under beds for one Thomas Hine of Beamster. And there is some text about the Monmouth Rebellion.

The soldiers don't appear to be looking for Thomas Hine to give him a gold watch. They are prodding the bed with bayonets.

So it seems likely that when Thomas came to France, he was on the lam. And that's how cognac was born.

Smoldering Urge Distress Signal

OLYMPIA (AP)—The state lifted its ban on smoking at all but one of its juvenile institutions, after learning even parents were smuggling cigarettes to youths.

"It led to numerous difficulties," said Tom Pinnoch, chief of juvenile rehabilitation for the institutions.

The delinquent youths, he said, were fishing cigarette butts out of garbage cans, gutters and even toilet bowls, drying them out and smoking them.

Some boys at the youth forest camps were trading their lunch for smokes from fern-pickers or passersby as they worked in the woods.

Some sympathetic mothers and fathers would throw fags over a fence, slip them into the bottom layer of boxes of candy or leave them in a chair while visiting so they could be picked up later.

Youth counsellors were sneaking a smoke where the boys couldn't see them, and the boys were furiously puffing out of sight of the counsellors.

Pinnoch said he decided the ban was all wrong one morning at Spruce Canyon forest camp when he saw a boy rummage through eight garbage cans in an unsuccessful search for cigarettes.

"It pointed up to me, what we were doing to these kids, when they had to root through trash cans," he said.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Busman's Honeymoon

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — It won't be much of a honeymoon for those married lovers, Ethel Merman and Ernie Borgnine. They had hoped to leave for the Orient after their big wedding bash last weekend. But even when they get to Tokyo at the end of this week, Ernie will be making some business calls on behalf of his TV series, McHale's Navy. It's the number one show in Australia, so of course that large country is also on the honeymoon itinerary, with a stopover in Hong Kong. Love is one thing — and it's Ethel's role in The Art of Love that caused the honeymoon postponement, but long live business and business is deductible. . . . When they come back they will live in Ernie's Beverly Hills home, complete with Ethel's emperor-size brass bed which she had shipped from New York City.

Lee Remick hasn't yet met her co-star Burt Lancaster, with whom she fights all through their film, Hallelujah Trail. Lee's husband, TV director Bill Coleran, is in charge of the very interesting live filming this week of Richard Burton's Hamlet. Using the new process called "electrovision," Bill will shoot while Burton, Hume Cronyn and the rest of the cast perform on stage. Warner Brothers will release the result early in September.

Pretty Jill St. John, who can afford chinilla, will only wear mink because she informs me that minks are killed by humane methods. She won't wear tiger, jaguar, leopard or beaver, because these animals are usually caught in traps and suffer before death.

Ever since To Kill a Mockingbird, producers have been looking for stories that feature children or teenagers. Those two girls in The World of Henry Orient actually stole the film from Peter Sellers. And in Father Goose, Cary Grant and Leslie Caron have competition from seven youngsters. In A High Wind Over Jamaica, Anthony Quinn and James Coburn will have to vie for favor with little children as their co-stars. Kids, as W. C. Fields would have told you, are the biggest scene stealers of all. But they are now box office, and smart stars move with the times.

Pamela Mason assured me and all the watchers of her morning TV show here, that she has never asked for a million-dollar settlement from James. "I might want two million," she quipped, "but so far no one has asked me what I want." Pam is off and running with her career. In addition to her daily one hour TV talk show, she has resumed her daily radio show. Daughter Porty, a beautiful 15½, is writing a book — about divorce. The Mason divorce, by the way, comes into court at the very end of August. And Pam wishes it were sooner.

Someone discussing the Leslie Caron divorce problems with her husband, likened it to Deborah Kerr when she wanted her divorce from Tony Bartley. But Deb's tangle did not last long. They settled matters amicably, and she can see her children whenever she wants. I hope Leslie will be as lucky. As for Mr. Beatty, his friends tell me he wants to marry Leslie. As Leslie is so obviously in love with him, I hope this will be true.

Age-Old Test—Set by

HAL BOYLE

How young are you? You're probably still on the sunny side of middle age if —

The mortgage on your home has 19½ years to run.

You still call your wife by the pet nickname of your courtship days instead of aping the children by addressing her as "Mother."

Being broke all the time now doesn't bother you so much, because you feel supremely confident that in another five years at most you'll double or triple your income.

You can understand a conversation between two teen-agers, and understand at least half of what they are saying.

Confronted by a long flight of stairs, you automatically go up two at a time and reach the top without feeling you need to lie down until you can breathe easier.

You don't remember how Shirley Temple looked as a curly-haired little girl, or Bing Crosby dinging as one of The Rhythm Boys.

Other men may not be able to handle martinis, but you — you're different.

If a shoelace breaks, you balance on one foot while you tie it instead of looking around for a fire hydrant to use as a support.

You'd rather get out on the lawn and cut the grass yourself than sit on the front porch and tell your wife how to do it.

At the office your desk drawer contains a small box of aspirin tablets — but no pep pills or medicine for an acid stomach.

You'd rather go out and pay to see a good new movie than stay at home and watch a lousy old one on television.

Room For More

There's room at the bottom of the banking business for another competitor, according to Peter Paul Saunders, president of Laurentide Financial Corporation Limited, and the establishment of another chartered bank—with headquarters in Vancouver—could be nothing but good for the West.

Mr. Saunders, whose company is seeking a federal charter to establish a bank, spoke to a joint meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria Kiwanis Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

ALL IN EAST

Too many decisions affecting business life in British Columbia were made in head offices in Toronto and Montreal, Mr. Saunders said.

Although Laurentide Corporation intended to be national in character, the head office would be in Vancouver and the interest of Western business would be its first consideration.

Statements of Eastern tycoons that head offices in Toronto were able to take care of Western interests were derided by Mr. Saunders.

'EXCELLENT'

The Royal Commission on Banking and Finance proposed to open up the business, said the financier who heads an organization with $300,000,000 in assets and branches in Canada, the United States, France, England and the Bahamas. This, he thought, would be an excellent thing.

Relaxation of interest ceilings particularly, said the speaker, would promote business growth and development across Canada.

The relaxing of restrictive banking laws, would, more than anything else perhaps, promote the ownership of industry and business by the people of Canada.

FIRST SHARES

In an effort to widely distribute ownership in the bank Laurentide hoped to establish, the company's 6,000 shareholders would be given first rights to shares in the bank. This would provide about half the capital.

The other half would be raised by putting stock on the open market.

Mr. Saunders, whose rise in the business world has been meteoric, traced the changing attitudes toward money. More and more, he believed it was being regarded as a commodity and put to use by the people of Canada.

Islanders Boost Tourism

Three former Vancouver Island residents are on the staff of a new Canadian government travel bureau office opening in Minneapolis, Minn., this summer.

In charge of the office will be Hector I. Crombie, former managing secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, who left Victoria in 1963 to join the travel bureau in Ottawa.

Also on the staff will be Audrey McCormick, who was educated in Victoria and worked for the B.C. government travel bureau, and Anthony Vincent, who attended Shawnigan Lake School.

Bomarc Practice

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF's two Bomarc anti-aircraft missile squadrons will go to Florida later this year for firing practice, an air force spokesman said. Their targets may be other Bomarcs.

Questions in House

Ensigns Flutter All Over Place

OTTAWA (CP) — An abundance of Red Ensigns fluttering on Parliament Hill for Dominion Day celebrations prompted a rash of questions in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Why so many, more than other years? asked Guy Marcoux (SC—Quebec-Montmorency).

Because, said Works Minister Deschatelets, a committee last fall suggested more flags be flown on July 1 and that is why there are 66 Red Ensigns around the parliamentary lawn rather than 22.

In answer to more questions he said the committee comprises representatives of the chief protocol officer for the external affairs department, public works, the CBC, RCMP, citizenship and immigration department and the defence department.

Nobody from the Royal Canadian Legion, Winnipeg branch? asked Creditiste Leader Real Caouette.

Mr. Deschatelets said he'd check.

Former Minister Says:

Leave New Flag Up to All People

OTTAWA (CP)—A former Conservative cabinet minister said Tuesday the selection of a new national flag should be a matter for all Canadians.

Quebec

Defended

Alvin Hamilton (PC—Qu'Appelle) said the view of the ordinary Canadian on the Liberal government's maple leaf banner ought to carry as much weight as that of the flag experts, lawyers, members of Parliament and intellectuals.

This was one reason why the government should accept Opposition leader Diefenbaker's amendment to the flag resolution and hold a national plebiscite, the former agriculture minister said.

ISSUES FOR PEOPLE

Mr. Hamilton said he personally supported the concept of Parliament making decisions, but there were some emotional and moral issues that should be decided by all the people.

One of these had been the conscription issue of 1942, which went to a plebiscite. Canada might still be torn by disension had the then-Liberal government not given the minority a chance to express itself.

WANT TO BE HEARD

There was a large number of Canadians—though still a minority—who felt they were being trampled upon. They wanted the opportunity to be heard through a national vote on the flag.

These people and organizations—supporters of the Red Ensign—had pledged to support the majority opinion. Surely this was the way to preserve unity.

Pearson Urges National Unity

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday that as Canada enters its 98th year of Confederation there is cause for concern at "the noisy activities of those few who would divide us."

In a Dominion Day message, Mr. Pearson said it would be irresponsible for Canadians to close their eyes to the existence of separatist designs, even though they are held by only a few.

Recognizing the existence of separatist ambitions would be the first step towards mobilizing the most effective counterforce: "Informed nationalism, persuaded by facts and reason that even on material grounds alone the consequences of any separation in Canada made it unthinkable."

"I believe we have barely tapped the qualities we need to ignite a national purpose which will carry out towards our cen-

Navy Planes Collide Five Fliers Killed

AVALON, Calif. (UPI) — Two twin-engine U.S. Navy anti-submarine planes collided in flight Tuesday.

The navy said wreckage of one plane was found, but there was no trace of a second. Policeman Don Anderson, a witness aboard a fishing boat, said one plane appeared to disintegrate after what he called a "head-on" collision observed by scores of fishermen and pleasure boat occupants.

Anderson, aboard the 85-foot fishing vessel Freedom I with more than 60 other persons, told investigators:

"I saw two twin-engine planes collide in mid-air and flat-spin into the water. They appeared to explode about when they hit the water."

He estimated the planes were about 1,000 feet in altitude at the time of collision.

Sgt. Lyndell Riggers, aboard a sheriff's helicopter about 10 to 15 minutes from the scene when the accident occurred, said he was attracted by smoke. By the time he arrived he could see only a little wreckage in the water, including a partially opened life raft.

Station from which both aircraft took off almost simultaneously Tuesday.

FIERY BLAST SINKS OIL RIG

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP)—A $8,000,000 floating oil rig collapsed and sank after a terrifying explosion and fire 72 miles off the Louisiana coast Tuesday, leaving 20 men feared dead.

Two bodies from the pre-dawn blast were recovered and an intensive air-sea search found no signs of 18 others who were missing.

25 SURVIVE

Another 25 persons, including two men in a boat alongside the barge, survived and were airlifted to this coastal fishing town. Many were burned.

The skeleton of the barge and rig settled to the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico in a depth of 180 feet.

Jack Bates of Reading and Bates Offshore Drilling Company, said the 18 missing men "are probably still aboard the Baker" at the bottom of the sea. Divers will examine the wreckage.

The C. P. Baker, a twin-hull barge, had 43 persons aboard when the explosion occurred.

FIRE EVERYWHERE

"There was fire everywhere," said L. C. Franks, a survivor. "If hell is any worse, I don't want to go there."

Half the men were caught asleep when the rush of gas belled from beneath the sea and burst into flame, triggered by a spark.

Survivors said the drill hit a shallow high pressure pocket of gas at the 684-foot level. The gas began seeping up into the rig, they said.

"The floor began to buckle and we knew it was time to get off," one survivor said.

TRAPPED BY FLAMES

Most were trapped momentarily by flames which covered the rig and surrounding waters. Winds mercifully whipped the flames away from one side of the rig for a moment and some crew members leaped into the water.

President's Mother To Quit Cuba?

MEXICO CITY (Reuters) — The newspaper Ultima Noticias reports that the Cuban exile student directorate had said Margot Torrado de Dorticos, mother of Cuba's President Osvaldo Dorticos, was considering defecting because of the Fidel Castro regime was persecuting the Roman Catholic Church.

Castro's sister, Juanita Castro Ben, is already in Mexico seeking political asylum after breaking with Fidel.

BEAVER LAKE CLAIMS LIFE

By TED GASKELL

A 17-year-old city student drowned in Beaver Lake yesterday afternoon while his girl friend looked on helplessly from the bank.

The victim, Lynn Moen Wilkins, of 1362 Pandora, a student at Victoria High School, was swimming at the west side of the lake with his friend Paul Franklin, 18, of 2639 Mount Stephen. The accident occurred just before 4 p.m.

TWO GIRLS WATCH

Watching the two swim toward the little island were Lynn's girl friend Darlene Lawrence, of 2749 Shelbourne, a Lansdowne Junior High School student, and Anita Barnes, 1510 Holly.

Four navy skindivers, CPO George Ackerman, PO Garneth Shaw, AB Lawrence Johnston, and AB David Arthurs, recovered the body an hour and a half later, about 100 feet from shore.

NOT STRONG SWIMMER

"He wasn't a very strong swimmer. He's never been out that far before," said the boy's friend.

"I was about 20 feet ahead of him when he called out. I turned to help him, but he went down."

UNABLE TO HELP

Paul, who described himself as only a fair swimmer, said he wasn't able to help. The bottom was weedy and mud was stirred up as he went down.

Darlene, who watched the swimmers, saw that Lynn was in trouble.

JUST WENT DOWN

"Lynn called out for help and Paul turned. He shouted to Lynn to lie on his back but he didn't. He just went down. Paul was too tired to help," she said.

"Lynn had never swum out that far before," Darlene said. They had been going steady for five months but had known each other longer than that and had been to Beaver Lake several times.

COULDN'T SWIM

When they did go to the lake it was Lynn who swam while Darlene, a non-swimmer, watched him from the shore.

The point from which the two youths were swimming was only a few hundred yards from the main beach and concession, but by trail it is at least half a mile.

DIVING FRUITLESS

Police went to the spot immediately to search, but efforts to dive were fruitless as the water muddied quickly.

Navy skindivers came by raft from the main beach and circled the area underwater for half an hour before they recovered the body.

Police and fire officials called for the navy but it was some time before the crew was able to reach the point.

SECOND IN WEEK

This is the second tragic accident involving high school students in a week.

Friday, Belmont High School student Terry Arthur, 1030 Dunford, was killed in a logging accident on the first day of his summer job, when he was hit by a log.

BORN HERE

Lynn Wilkins was born in Victoria, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wilkins. He received his primary education at Mill Bay and moved here with his family in 1959. He attended Central Junior High and Victoria High schools. He had just passed his grade 11 exams.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Lee, 16, and Lawrence, 14, and his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Wilkins.

Cities Swelter

TORONTO (CP) — Children and parents jammed Toronto wading and swimming pools in an attempt to get some relief from the hottest June day in 124 years of city weather records.

Temperature signs downtown read as high as 105 degrees in the afternoon, but the highest official recording was 98 degrees.

MONTREAL (CP) — The temperature of 94 degrees recorded at Montreal International Airport Tuesday not only topped the Montreal record for that date but also the record for the month of June, the weatherman reported.

Crash Grounds Young Flying Bug

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — A 15-year-old "bug for flying" and his trusting 13-year-old companion were grounded Tuesday after the crash-landing of a stolen airplane ended their spree of free rides.

The boys, from North Adams, Mass., about 40 miles east of Schenectady, crash-landed the single-engine plane in a parking lot after fog and radio trouble spoiled their plans for a quiet, unreported flight.

Police said the pilot, John Nault, said he had taken the Cessna-150 because "I'm a bug for flying."

He admitted, police reported, he had flown the plane before, flying about 50 or 60 miles, then returning it to North Adams Airport. He said he had had two hours of flying instructions.

The 13-year-old, whose name was not disclosed, told police he had flown with John before and wasn't frightened because "John's a good driver" and "we were wearing seat belts."

He wasn't frightened even though:

The two became lost in fog; narrowly missed crashing into the steeple of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church in Schenectady; couldn't raise any answer on the aircraft's radio; the first time they tried to land in the parking lot, John overshot, the balance wheel struck a wire fence as he was pulling up for another try.

When he realized he was lost, police said, the pilot kept calling "Mayday, Mayday" into the craft's radio. The listeners could not make contact with the plane.

Over Schenectady, police said, the boys noticed they were low on fuel. They decided to land in the parking lot because John saw a General Electric Company sign and "felt at home"—a relative works for the company in Pittsfield, Mass.

"The boy's a pretty good pilot," said an official of the youth aid bureau.

The badly damaged plane, valued at $7,000, is owned by the Williamstown Flying Club.

Flag Issue

Debate to End Before Recess

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Tuesday night the government wants to bring the flag issue to a vote before considering a summer recess of Parliament.

His statement brought groans from Conservative MPs, who have warned they will put up a long hard fight against the government resolution for a maple leaf flag.

Mr. Pearson said the government would like to pass the flag resolution and six other high-priority measures by the end of July, then call a recess until mid-September.

A series of meetings of House leaders for the various parties had failed to agree on an order of business for July. He wished to place the government proposals on the record to clear up "inaccurate reports."

The prime minister said the government proposes to hold off debate on its resolutions relating to O Canada and God Save the Queen until the fall.

Besides the flag, these are the measures the government wants to pass before any recess.

1. New fiscal arrangements with the provinces, negotiated at federal-provincial conferences last November and April;

2. Extension of family allowances to $10 monthly to students aged 16 and 17;

3. Third reading of a bill extending Canada's territorial waters and fishing limits;

4. Establishment of a student loan fund to assist needy university students;

5. Spending authority for August and September.

PENSION PLAN OUT
The most noticeable item left out of the priority list was the Canada Pension Plan, now obviously sidetracked until the fall.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) protested that Mr. Pearson's insistence on a flag vote before a recess is "a club held over our heads."

He said the opposition is willing to co-operate with the government on the other legislative items in the prime minister's priority list.

Starfighters Airlifted To France

EDMONTON (UPI)—The last of about 175 CF-104 Starfighter jets has been airlifted to France to join Canada's NATO air division.

An air force spokesman said the final fighter arrived in Marville, France, Tuesday aboard a C-130 Hercules transport from Alberta.

The supersonic aircraft have been airlifted to France one at a time in the cavernous cargo hold of the Hercules.

The transports flew a total of more than 1,500,000 miles—or 62 times around the world—since the airlift began in October 1962.

The four Hercules stationed here are to be replaced with a more powerful version of the aircraft later this year.

New Post For Nun At Nelson

A former St. Joseph's Hospital nun is now directing the first university-affiliated program in Canada for a degree in medical records science at Notre Dame University in Nelson.

Sister Mary Catherine directed the school of medical technology at St. Joseph's when it was affiliated with Seattle University, later serving as chief medical records librarian.

The Notre Dame School was established last year in conjunction with Kootenay Lake General Hospital, and has been approved by the Canadian Association of Medical Record Librarians.

KEEPING SEAT
Mr. Manson, 57, found it necessary to resign because of personal reasons, but he will retain his Cape Breton West seat in the provincial legislature.

His trade and industry portfolio will be filled by W. S. Kennedy Jones, who gives up the portfolios of public welfare and provincial secretary.

Agriculture Minister E. D. Haliburton will resign as agriculture minister to take on the portfolio of fisheries, and will continue as lands and forests minister.

N. Layton Fergusson will give up the municipal affairs portfolio while retaining the portfolio of labor.

NEW MINISTERS
New ministers are Dr. Thomas J. McKeough, municipal affairs; James M. Harding, public welfare; I. W. Akerley, agriculture and marketing; Donald R. MacLeod, minister without portfolio, and Gerald J. Doucet, provincial secretary.

Or No Pay
Jobless Need Numbers
OTTAWA (CP)—Persons applying for unemployment insurance must produce a social insurance number or make immediate application for one, according to a new regulation made public in the Canada Gazette.

The labor department is on a campaign to get all working Canadians registered under the new social insurance numbering program.

It is not yet compulsory, however, for persons who are not yet covered by unemployment insurance.

The new unemployment insurance regulation was approved by the Unemployment Insurance Commission May 28. It appeared in an extra supplement of the Canada Gazette.

Under it, anyone filing an initial or renewal claim for jobless benefits must furnish the unemployment office with a social insurance number or fill out an application for a number.

Those who do not comply with this requirement will not receive benefits.

Future hopes of band members is that they become popular enough to be able to quit their jobs and devote their full time to music.

Mr. Attfield has recently been learning to play the harmonica in order to further increase the band's flexibility, even though they now have collectively more than $6,000 worth of equipment, including a chord organ.

Although all the members of the band can read music, they seldom do.

"We prefer to listen to popular records, then work our own arrangements from them," said Mr. Attfield.

Pharaohs on Way Four Young City Musicians Cut First Rock, Roll Disc

By MIKE GADSBY

A Victoria four-man band has cut its first rock and roll record.

The Pharaohs, led by Ed Attfield, 21, on guitar, and including his brother Ron, 19, bass and vocal, Doug Casey, 21, drums and vocal and Mike Kersey, 25, piano and organ, was organized four years ago.

Since then the group has received an increasing number of engagements at parties, clubs, and dances, until now it is usually busy about two nights a week, even though all four members have other jobs, and only play on a part-time basis.

Part of the band's reason for success has been its versatility. Although the boys specialize in rock and roll they also have a repertoire of conventional numbers, including jazz, waltzes and Latin American music.

They were asked to cut a record by Peter Kelch, of the Air Check Record Co. of Hollywood, Calif., and have since signed a one-year contract with the company.

"The record is called The Friendly Martian," said band leader Ed Attfield. It is a rock and roll instrumental.

He said the number has received air play in New York.

The group will leave Victoria July 3 for a 10-day playing tour through six cities in the Okanagan and the Interior.

"After that we are hoping for more tours and more records. If Friendly Martian sells we may really get somewhere, but if not we'll just have to keep trying."

OTTAWA (CP)—The recommendations of the committee which has been investigating means of reorganizing the 44,000-member militia are expected to be placed before the Commons defence committee July 14.

Soviet Clocks Here

Russians Have Time We Ring the Bell

A Government Street store may not know what comes from Russia with love.

Jeff Andrews, manager for Spencer's Surplus Annex reported considerable customer interest has been aroused by a dozen Soviet-made alarm clocks which the store took into stock.

He said store officials noticed the clocks in a catalogue from a Montreal importer and ordered them, as much for fun as anything.

The four-jewel clocks appear well-made and about half of them have already been sold at $3.59 each. Instructions are enclosed in Russian and English.

Mr. Andrews said he recalls some USSR-made shotgun shells were offered to Victoria merchants by an importing firm a while ago. But he doesn't recall any stores ordering the shells.

'Old' District Leader Honored by Jaycees

DUNCAN—More than 60 local Jaycees and wives gathered in the Commercial Hotel for the recent Horst Nowrath night, honoring the Jaycee leader who has reached the retirement age of 40.

Nowrath

A German immigrant and owner of a Duncan jewelry store, Mr. Nowrath joined the Duncan group in 1953. He became Duncan president in 1958 and Island district president in 1962. He was given the rare honor of a lifetime Jaycee senatorship in 1961.

PORT ALBERNI—About 1,300 members of 27 Jehovah's Witness congregations on Vancouver Island, plus visitors from as far away as Toronto, are expected to attend a "Fruitage of the Spirit" assembly which opens Thursday. The assembly will continue in Alberni Athletic Hall until Sunday.

FULFORD—The 30 graduates gave a silver jewel box to Mrs. A. J. Hepburn, Grade 12 teacher at Salt Spring Secondary School, during a recent ceremony. The students chose Brian Beech from their number to present the gift.

CROFTON—B.C. Forest Products' newly-built paper mill has gone into operation, says company president A. D. Hamilton. It gives the firm 20 per cent of B.C. pulp production, and 10 per cent of the newsprint production.

NANAIMO — Certificates honoring donations of 20 or more pints of blood were given by Red Cross president Sheldon Spurr to Ernest Aigner, T. H. Forrester, Mrs. Jessie Hall, Arthur Martin and D. A. Peterson in a ceremony in the health centre. Unable to attend were Mrs. Mary Boyle, Mrs. Mary Chisholm, Mrs. Muriel Slater, Mrs. Daisy Hughes of Courtenay, Ronald Kelly, William Pineo and Ernest Stolzenberg.

CHEMAINUS — Mrs. Harold Cook defended her Mount Brenton Golf Club women's championship, defeating Mrs. T. Jackson of Nanaimo with a spectacular birdie two on the 15th hole. Other winners were Mrs. Reg Harwood, champion 9-hi-p consolation; Mrs. John Duncan of Ladysmith, first flight; Mrs. E. Hart, first flight consolation, and Mrs. Donald Urton, second flight. Cooper division winners were Mrs. Ben Hickling and Mrs. D. Tukham.

PORT ALBERNI—Bill Burgoyne has been elected president of the Kinsmen Club for the 1964-65 term. Other officers are: Wilf Lessard, vice-president; Jack Fraser, secretary; Maurice Walley, treasurer; Arnold Berquist, registrar; Barry Kumpf, historian, and Gale Lynn, Les McMillan and Harry Webster, directors.

NANAIMO—The mid-Island forest fire hazard is building up slowly after weeks of minimum danger, Forest Service officials have warned. They said the hazard has climbed to five on an index which has a maximum of 16. The district has had 13 small fires since May 1, most caused by abandoned campfires, but the only restriction on the public so far is a requirement for fire permits.

DUNCAN — Twenty Cowichan district Boy Scouts will go to camp Thursday at the Cliffside Preparatory School at Shawinigan Lake to take part in a 10-day lifesaving course. The course is held every second year by the Cowichan District Scout Council. P. E. Blanc, of Duncan, will be in charge of the camp and Rod Bailey, of Victoria, a member of the Royal Lifesaving Society, will be the instructor.

FULFORD — The Fulford Athletic Club will sponsor a dance in the Fulford Hall Friday evening, with proceeds helping to build a new hall entrance. The Nite Lites orchestra will play.

NANAIMO — Speaking parts are available for 11 men and six women in the five-act Restoration comedy 'The Beaux' Stratagem, so the Yellow Point Drama Group plans to ask other local theatre groups for help. Production manager H. E. T. Richmond says any members of other groups not working with those groups in the fall will be welcomed in the November production in Cedar community hall. Casting will follow a September acting workshop.

CUMBERLAND — Fourteen paraplegics from Vancouver and two from Victoria were weekend guests of the Kinsmen as the local club held its fourth annual day of fishing and trap-shooting for the visitors. Fishing winners at Comox Lake were Mel Hamilton, Rocky Sullivan and Victor Joseph.

ALBERNI — Helen Gravelle has been fined $150 in magistrate's court after pleading guilty to impaired driving. The charge followed a collision which caused $500 damage.

DUNCAN — A Duncan boy who pleaded guilty in juvenile court to the theft of a cap pistol from a local store has been placed on four months' probation.

Islanders Invited By NDP

NANAIMO — All members of the New Democratic Party and all unionists on Vancouver Island have been invited to a picnic on Newcastle Island Sunday. The picnic is being staged by the NDP associations in the Nanaimo-Islands and Cowichan-Newcastle ridings. A small, foot-passenger ferry runs to the island from Madill's near the Nanaimo area, and there is room to leave cars on the Nanaimo side. Ice cream and coffee will be available at the picnic, which will include children's races.

Silence Rules Strike-Hit Street

North Island

Comox Valley Best in Meet

COMOX — The Comox Valley team won the Nightingale memorial trophy for the high aggregate score at the recent north Island track meet of the Legion-sponsored junior Olympic training program. Comox Valley, made up of Courtenay, Comox and Cumberland youngsters, scored 218 points to 181 for Campbell River. Other totals were Parksville, Quailcum 126½, Alberni Valley 87½, Port Alice 75 and the four-member Alert Bay team four. A total of 284 youngsters entered the 75 events and heats held on the RCAF field. First-place winners can enter the B.C. junior Olympics in Richmond Aug. 7 to 9.

To help the competitors keep up training, a non-qualifying meet for the entire Island will be held at the RCAF field July 25. The winners:

BOYS — Mike Stewart, Campbell River, 100-yard dash, 220 and 440; Robert Boyle, Comox, discus and shotput; Michael Baie, Comox, high jump; Girls—Karen Peterson, Comox, shotput and 440.

JUVENILES — T. Dombrowski, Port Alberni, 100 and 220; Pat Laver, Comox, 880 and mile; Jack Wilander, Comox, hurdles and two miles; Ken Sturdy, Port Alice, discus; John Carpenter, Campbell River, shotput; N. Marshall, Port Alberni, broad jump; Don Weigand, Parksville, high jump; T. Dewar, Parksville, pole vault; Jim Craigie, Comox, 440; Port Alberni, relay.

Two Charged — One Convicted

COURTENAY — Charges were laid against both drivers after a recent rear-end collision but only one was convicted in magistrate's court Monday.

Charles Robert Tudway was convicted of careless driving and fined $25. Court was told his car hit the car of Charles Collin Burritt as the latter slowed to look at a view sign.

MR. BURRITT, charged with driving without due consideration for others, said he slowed for a reasonable distance and applied his brakes so the brake lights would show. The charge was dismissed.

Sentenced for impaired driving were Charles O'Meara, $150 and two-month licence suspension; Edward George Thompson, $150 and one-month suspension; Robert Edward Sagnes, $125 and three-month suspension.

Pallbearers Came From Four Towns

CHEMAINUS — Pallbearers were residents of four Island centres at the recent funeral services for well-known Chemainus and Island resident James Syme, Sr., who died at 67.

They were local residents Dick McBride, Jack McKinnon and Collin McInnes, Jim Forrest, of Port Alberni, Art

Woods, of Croton, and Chris Ridgway, of Ladysmith. Mr. Syme, a native of Wellington, moved to Chemainus as a young man. He went to work for the Empire Stevedoring Co. in 1921 and was superintendent for more than 20 years.

An active athlete as a youth, he later managed the Empire Stevedoring and longshoremen's baseball teams. He was a member of the Legion's Duncan branch and the Chemainus Lodge No. 114, AF and AM. Rev. J. Clarke conducted the services in Calvary Baptist Church.

Tofino's Linda Craig To Be Queen Today

CLAYOQUOT — Tofino representative Linda Craig, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Craig, will be crowned queen of the Tofino-Ucluelet district today, it was announced last night.
Linda received the most votes in the annual Dominion Day queen contest and will reign over district functions for the next year, beginning with the annual sports day today.
Her younger sister Cindy will be her flower girl. Other queen contestants, who will be Linda's princesses, were Regina Charlie of Opitsate and Sylvia Cole of Ucluelet.
Their flower girls are Nora Martin and Shirley Crawford.

Man Dies

Charge Follows Crash

CAMPBELL RIVER — A driver was charged with criminal negligence only hours after a car crash killed a 47-year-old Campbell River man at 1:30 a.m. yesterday.

Police said Douglas Alderson, who moved here recently from Courtenay, died after the car sheared off a power pole outside Sutton's funeral parlor on the Island Highway only 400 yards from the RCMP station.

BAIL SET

Driver Jose Matias, 22, of Campbell River, who was not injured, was charged in magistrate's court later in the morning with criminal negligence and was released on $4,000 bail.

Passenger Howard Cameron, whose home address was not given, is in satisfactory condition in hospital. Passenger Clarence MacAskill of Willow Point was treated for an injury to his right leg and later released.

Police said no inquest will be held.

Keep It in the Family, Boys

COURTENAY—Three relatives named Joseph Behan, Tom Behan and Ildor Schmidt pleaded guilty in magistrate's court Monday to a joint charge of causing a disturbance by fighting.

They called it "just a family fight," but Magistrate John Ryland fined them $10 each, and said it was all right for them to fight in private but others might join in in public—and that could cause a riot.

Communities Act

Delegation to Plead Lady Rose Case

By MARGARET TREBETT

PORT ALBERNI—A big delegation supported by all the communities on Alberni Inlet and Barkley Sound will go to Victoria Monday to plead the case of Mv. Lady Rose.

Extent of the support for the Alberni Valley Chamber of Commerce's fight to keep the ship on the Alberni-Barkley run was disclosed yesterday by chamber president Mrs. Edna Souther.

The chamber, at a meeting Tuesday where Mrs. Souther made the announcement, also urged an immediate start on a China Creek park and learned business is good at the newly-opened tourist bureau.

The Lady Rose delegation will ask highways department officials to reverse their decision to drop the $1,900-a-month subsidy paid Alberni Marine Transportation to keep the Lady Rose going.

Mrs. Souther said: "Delegates will include such residents of separate areas as local MLA John Squire, Barkley Chamber president Raold Ostrom, and Barkley Sound logging operator Frank Sing."

The Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau has appealed to the government to continue the subsidy. "Petitions on the issue are circulating in Kildonan, Barkley and Ucluelet."

Mine Support Asked

Mayor Le's Hammer, who will make the trip, suggested Noranda Mines Ltd. might also give support.

The chamber was advised in a letter from deputy highways minister H. T. Miard that a recent survey showed passenger and freight traffic on the Lady Rose is "very light."

It also showed people at nearly all the places where the Lady Rose stops have boats. Mr. Miard stressed roads have been completed to Ucluelet and Barkley since the ferry began service.

Alberni Marine Transportation chairman Jack Perry told the chamber 20 out-of-town cars stopped at the Alberni Valley tourist Bureau in the first 24 hours after it opened Monday for the summer.

Miss Sharon Wenezenki is in charge of the bureau from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and Mr. Dryden asked for volunteers to man the centre Sundays.

He said 4,000 Alberni Valley tourist folders were sent to the western provinces and states in the past week.

Park Parley Advocated

The chamber supported the motion of parks committee chairman Jack Perry that Mr. Kiernan be invited to a chamber meeting to discuss the China Creek park. Another motion asked the Twin Cities councils to urge the government for an early start on the project.

MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. has exchanged land with the recreation department to provide for a 60-acre park. Mr. Perry said development of the site might take five years.

Dead Man Blamed By Inquest Jury

LAKE COWICHAN — The dead man was blamed by a coroner's jury last night for the flaming, two-truck collision on the Youbou Road June 20 which killed Youbou log contractor Harold Whittingham, 36.

The jury called the death accidental, said Mr. Whittingham's pickup truck was on the wrong side of the road and specifically cleared the other driver of any blame.

'AN EXPLOSION'

The second driver, A. G. Abrahams of Howard Road in Duncan, testified that the pickup truck "came straight at me . . . I jammed on the brakes . . . there was an explosion."

Mr. Abrahams and his wife, the only people in the big chip truck-train, were injured in the crash. Mrs. Abrahams was not able to attend the inquest.

A doctor said heart and brain injuries to Mr. Whittingham were fatal. The jury was out for an hour and 50 minutes.

Seven on Committee

Nanaimo Names Centennial Body

NANAIMO — Seven city residents have been named to a committee to organize Nanaimo festivities for Canada's centenary in 1967, it was announced at a city council meeting Monday.

They are Ald. Douglas Greer, council's finance committee chairman, and William Cochran, Earl Fletcher, Harold Hackwood, Mrs. Sylvia Koster, Frank Ney and Frank Sloat.

CONSIDER REQUEST

Council promised to consider a request from the local Voice of Women organization for support in an International Co-operation Year project next year. VoW spokesman Mrs. Patricia Boulding suggested Nanaimo adopt an Italian city.

'You're Very Lucky'

NANAIMO — "You are very very lucky you're not facing a charge of criminal negligence," Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts told a Nanaimo man in magistrate's court yesterday.

Hors Cruspe had pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunk driving but was convicted. His sentence was 21 days in Oakalla prison farm and a nine-month licence suspension.

WOMAN STRUCK

Cruspe was charged after a woman was hit, May 16, in a crosswalk at Haliburton and Milton.

Police said Cruspe could not walk without aid and, when off the back seat.

'NEAR DEAD-DRUNK'

Dr. S. Clarke testified Cruspe's blood alcohol content of .29 per cent indicated he was "approaching pretty close to the stage of dead-drunk."

He said any person with this content would be "well beyond the stage of just impaired."

The magistrate's comment was made when he refused Cruspe's request to be allowed to use his car for work.

'More Trouble Than People'

Duncan Dogs Face Fight

DUNCAN—This city has "more trouble with dogs than with people," Mayor Jack Dobson said during a city council meeting Monday night.

Council, fed up with dogs running loose, decided the animals face a bleak future and will call a public meeting to put that future into effect.

OUT OF HAND

The topic came up when Ald. Robert Mason declared "the dog situation is out of hand" and demanded strict enforcement of the city dog bylaw as some owners seem to pay no attention to council requests to keep their dogs under control.

He complained council doesn't seem to get co-operation from the SPCA so council decided to invite local SPCA officials to a public meeting of council to thresh out the problem.

Council, during the brief meeting, gave final approval to the bylaw allowing the borrowing of up to $18,000 as the Duncan share of the site cost for the Cowichan Valley forest museum.

Voters recently approved the borrowing 285 to 65.

DANGEROUS Aldermen passed a motion ordering preparation of a bylaw clause which will enable city authorities to condemn and take down rundown buildings which are a danger to both the occupants and the public.

The clause may be incorporated in the city anti-nuisance bylaw but council did not decide who will have power to level these buildings. At present the city building inspector can recommend removal of such dwellings but cannot enforce this stand.

OTHER BUSINESS

Council also: Learned tar particles in parts of the city water system will remain until the city can draw water from another source and until the 14-inch steel pipe between the pump-house and reservoir can be cleaned and relined.

Decided to ask the provincial highways department when curbs and gutters promised on the Trans-Canada Highway through the city will actually be built.

Was told by consulting engineer Russell Potter that the blacktop job on Wharmcliffe Road is acceptable though not of the best quality. Ald. James Saunders said recently the surface showed slight waves.

It would indicate which areas have the most problems. The "study in depth" will include traffic patterns, economic situations and waterfront capabilities.

Miss Mary Rawson of a Vancouver planning consultants' firm will conduct the survey, which was approved by the civic advisory commission yesterday.

Such a survey is a preface to an urban renewal study by Central Mortgage and Housing. Its $1,000 cost must be approved by city council.

THREE AREAS Miss Rawson explained she will divide the harbor district into the areas between Departure Bay and the Millstream, the Millstream and the assembly dock, and the dock and reserve, for the study.

Roadside Farm at Duncan Has Far-Flung Appeal

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Customers from as far away as Montreal and San Francisco return each year to one of Vancouver Island's "tourist meccas," the Somenos Lake farm of Cmdr. and Mrs. G. S. Windeyer.

The visitors are attracted by the farm's lush fields and its colorful roadside stand and farm kitchen, the only stop of its kind along many miles of the highway in the area north of Duncan.

The retired naval officer, who hails from Tomago, Australia, didn't like the idea of his wife selling farm produce and fresh eggs at the roadside stand when it was started a decade ago. But now Cmdr. and Mrs. Windeyer both say they don't regret the decision to sell.

The farm has long since earned the Windeyers a reputation for harvesting a large variety of top-grade produce.

Cmdr. Windeyer actually manages the 120-acre farm next to the new Cowichan Valley forest museum while his Irish-born wife directs the stand and kitchen.

The couple came to the valley in 1934 following Cmdr. Windeyer's retirement from the Royal Navy. They started a dairy operation but switched to beef cattle in 1951 before the farm slowly developed to its present status.

The farm now has 90 acres of cultivated land and 30 acres of pasture land, with 40 feeders, mostly Herefords and some Highland cattle. There is also a flock of 1,000 chickens.

Cmdr. Windeyer has developed an outstanding variety of fruit trees, while acres of corn, strawberries, early potatoes and many other kinds of garden produce form the backbone of the well-organized farm.

A project close to this farmer's heart is his three acres of black currants. Cmdr. Windeyer predicts a great future for the small, dark berries which are one of the main ingredients of the homemade pies his wife sells at the stand.

Cmdr. Windeyer, keeping in close touch with the latest findings of horticultural science, has organized orchards of dwarf trees, including 3,000 apple, 30 pear, 40 peach and 40 cherry trees.

The dwarf apple trees, on stock obtained from the Malling Experimental Farm in Kent, England, are doing well in their experimental plot.

They may yield as much as three times more than standard trees per acre and are more easily sprayed, pruned and picked.

At times, the Windeyers employ as many as 30 people during weekdays, depending on the season.

Life since retirement has not been all farming for Cmdr. Windeyer. He served six years during the Second World War with the RCN and was decorated for gallantry while on convoy duty in the North Atlantic.

His future plans call for an even more attractive stop for road-weary motorists who seem to feel the picturesque oasis is just what they want.
